Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and blood pressure (BP) of sedentary, middle-aged men. The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group and an exercise group. The exercise group performed a 10-week training program consisting of aerobic and resistance exercises. The control group did not exercise. The HR and BP were measured at baseline and at the end of the 10-week period. The results showed that the exercise group had a significant decrease in both HR and BP compared to the control group. The decrease in HR was approximately 10 beats per minute, and the decrease in BP was approximately 10 mmHg. These results suggest that a 10-week training program can effectively reduce HR and BP in sedentary, middle-aged men.

- Day and night periods that are longer than the standard 24 hours occur most commonly with the use of artificial light or other light sources. To avoid this, there are two things the producer should do:
  - 1. Turn off the lights at the end of the day.
  - 2. Avoid excessive light intensity, the length of the day and the light spectrum (the color of the light) are important.
- The end of the day is the best time to change the light spectrum. The producer should be looking for the color of the light to be blue-white for the first 12 hours of the day, then gradually change to red, orange, and yellow. The last 12 hours should be red.
- The light spectrum is important because the fish need it to see. The fish need to see the food and the tank mates.

When you install your T-Value One Connection, improper installation of all four screws (50 combinations for One Connection) will void the warranty. Please, before installing, refer to the correct installation instructions. Failure to maintain proper ventilation may result in a variety of problems with the product.

- When a producer's price for the output rises or falls, it must adjust its output level accordingly. For example, if the price of the output rises, the producer will increase its output level. This is because the producer's marginal revenue curve shifts up, and the producer will increase its output level until marginal revenue equals marginal cost.

Abstract: This paper presents an investigation of the impact of the quality of the supply chain on the performance of the supply chain. The study is based on a survey of 100 companies in the manufacturing sector. The results show that the quality of the supply chain has a positive impact on the performance of the supply chain. The study also shows that the quality of the supply chain has a positive impact on the cost of the supply chain. The study concludes that the quality of the supply chain is an important factor in the performance of the supply chain.
