Pinhook Finding Wholeness In A Fragmented Land Janisse Ray:

Pinhook Janisse Ray, 2005-04-30 Janisse Ray award winning author of Ecology of a Cracker Childhood and Wild Card Quilt writes an evocative paean to wildness and wilderness restoration with an extraordinary journey into southern Georgia's Pinhook Swamp. Pinhook Swamp acts as a vital watershed and wildlife corridor, a link between the great southern wildernesses of Okefenokee Swamp and Osceola National Forest. Together, Okefenokee, Osceola, and Pinhook form one of the largest expanses of protected wild land east of the Mississippi River. This is one of America's last truly wild places, and Pinhook takes us into its heart. Ray comes to know Pinhook intimately as she joins the fight to protect it, spending the night in the swamp, tasting honey made from its flowers, tracking wildlife, and talking to others about their relationship with the swamp. Ray sees Pinhook through the eyes of the people who live there: naturalists, beekeepers, homesteaders, hunters, and locals at the country store. In lyrical, down-home prose, she draws together the swamp's need for restoration and the human desire for wholeness and wildness in our own lives and landscapes.

Poverty Politics Sarah Robertson, 2019-08-23 Representations of southern poor whites have long shifted between romanticization and demonization. At worst, poor southern whites are aligned with racism, bigotry, and right-wing extremism and are at best regarded as the passive victims of wider socioeconomic policies. In Poverty Politics: Poor Whites in Contemporary Southern Writing, author Sarah Robertson pushes beyond these stereotypes and explores the impact of neoliberalism and welfare reform on depictions of poverty. Robertson examines representations of southern poor whites across various types of literature, including travel writing, photo narratives, life writing, and eco literature, and reveals a common interest in communitarianism that crosses the boundaries of the US South and regionalism, moving past ideas about the culture of poverty to examine the economics of poverty. Included are critical examinations of the writings of southern writers such as Dorothy Allison, Rick Bragg, Barbara Kingsolver, Tim McLaurin, Toni Morrison, and Ann Pancake. Poverty Politics includes critical engagement with identity politics as well as reflections on issues including Hurricane Katrina, the 2008 financial crisis, and mountaintop removal. Robertson interrogates the presumed opposition between the Global North and the Global South and engages with microregions through case studies on Appalachian photo narratives and eco literature. Importantly, she focuses not merely on representations of southern poor whites but also on writing that calls for alternative ways of reconceptualizing not just the poor but societal measures of time, value, and worth.

Living Above the Store Martin Melaver, 2009 Not Merely Sustainable: Restorative A viable business is a living thing embedded in the complex web of economy, community, and ecology. Done right, business can help correct the modern stresses of environmental degradation and social fragmentation and create value for workers, shareholders, and additional stakeholders in the community. Living Above the Store explores a road less traveled and chronicles how business can navigate a new path toward successful restorative practices. A Sanctuary of Trees Gene Logsdon, 2012-04-10 As author Gene Logsdon puts it We are all tree huggers But not just for sentimental or even environmental reasons Humans have always depended on trees for our food shelter livelihood and safety In many ways despite the Grimm's fairy tale version of the dark menacing forest most people still hold a deep cultural love of woodland settings and feel right at home in the woods In this latest book A Sanctuary of Trees Logsdon offers a loving tribute to the woods tracing the roots of his own home groves in Ohio back to the Native Americans and revealing his own history and experiences living in many locations each of which was different yet inextricably linked with trees and the natural world Whether as an adolescent studying at a seminary or as a journalist living just outside Philadelphia's city limits Gene has always lived and worked close to the woods and his curiosity and keen sense of observation have taught him valuable lessons about a wide variety of trees their distinct characteristics and the multiple benefits and uses they have In addition to imparting many fascinating practical details of woods wisdom A Sanctuary of Trees is infused with a philosophy and descriptive lyricism that is born from the author's passionate and lifelong relationship with nature There is a point at which the tree shudders before it begins its descent Then slowly it tips picks up speed often with a kind of wailing death cry from rending wood fibers and hits the ground with a whump that literally shakes the earth underfoot The air in the aftermath seems to shimmy and shiver as if saturated with static electricity Then follows an eerie silence the absolute end to a very long life Fitting squarely into the long and proud tradition of American nature writing A Sanctuary of Trees also reflects Gene Logsdon's unique personality and perspective which have marked him over the course of his two dozen previous books as the authentic voice of rural life and traditions

The New Georgia Encyclopedia Companion to Georgia Literature Hugh Ruppersburg, John C. The Lost Language of Plants Stephen Harrod Buhner,2002-03-06 Enraged Energized Exultant You won t know how to feel after reading Stephen Harrod Buhner s The Lost Language of Plants This is a devastating expose about how we are polluting our environment with the pharmaceuticals that Western medicine has developed to heal us We are ingesting Prozac Premarin and antibiotics whether we want to or not Yet as we foul air and water with toxic residues we overlook the power of the planet s natural healers stabilizers and chemists plants Buhner sees plants as fully sentient beings adjusting and fine tuning to the environment just as they have done for the past 500 million years Until recently humans shared the language of plants but increasingly we have lost our ability to communicate with the natural world Buhner shows us a path back to our shamanic roots BOOK JACKET

Walking Seasonal Roads Mary A. Hood,2012-05-18 Seasonal roads are defined as one lane dirt roads not maintained during the winter They function as connectors linking farmers to their fields neighbors to neighbors or two more well traveled roads to each other Some access hunting lands and recreational areas Some pass by cemeteries allowing people to visit and honor their dead They can be abandoned as people move and towns fade In every incarnation the seasonal road touches the land in a gentler way than do other roads Having traveled nearly every seasonal road in Steuben County New York Hood finds they provide the ideal vantage to contemplate the meaning of place offering intimate contact with plant and wildlife and the beauty of a rural landscape Each road reveals how our land is used how our land is protected and how environmental factors have impacted the land As a literary naturalist Hood reflects on endangered species and invasive species as well as on issues of conservation and sustainability From state forests to potato fields from development along Keuka Lake to vineyards from old family cemeteries to logging sites Walking Seasonal Roads is a celebration and an honoring of the rural and the regionalism of place illustrating the ways we connect to our home and to each other

RiverTime Mary A. Hood, 2008-03-20 In this engaging travelogue of our world's rivers great and small poet and biologist Mary A Hood reflects on rivers as creators of place Recounting her journeys along portions of the Mississippi the Danube the Amazon the Yangtze the Ganges the Nile and a dozen small U S rivers Hood weaves together natural history current environmental and conservation issues encounters with endangered plants and animals and tells some interesting tales along the way Like a river the book begins small with essays that are narrowly focused on themes of environment and place such as the need to write our world Three Rivers how fires and corporations control the West the Flathead the effect of wind farms on a small town in western New York the Conhocton the giant redwoods and how they were preserved the Klamath and the search for moose in the great north woods the Penobscot The second section expands the themes of environment and place and looks at great world rivers their long histories their biological diversity the effects of human use and tourism and the paradox of human reverence and destruction From endangered species to invasive species from corporate control of national parks to wind farms from urban sprawl to efforts at conservation and restoration RiverTime offers insights into our relationship to the environment in the twenty first century
