Nothing Gold Can Stay
by Robert Frost

Nature's first green is gold,
Her hardest hue to hold.
Her early leaf's a flower;
But only so an hour.
Then leaf subsides to leaf.
So Eden sank to grief,
So dawn goes down to day.
Nothing gold can stay

The book gives examples of children's poetry writing and methods of presenting poetry to students of any age. The Experimental Psychology of Beauty C.W. Valentine, 2015-06-05 Originally published in 1962, the experimental study of aesthetics was a field particularly associated with the name of C.W. Valentine, who in this book provided a critical review of research carried out since the end of the nineteenth century principally by British and American psychologists. The investigations described, many of them conducted by the author, are concerned with individual responses to what is commonly regarded as beautiful in painting, music and poetry, an important distinction being made between the perception of objects as beautiful as opposed to pleasing. The reactions of children and adults and of people having different ethnic and social backgrounds are explored in a variety of experiments dealing with specific elements including colour, form and balance in painting, musical intervals, discord, harmony, melody and tempo and rhythm, metre, imagery and associations in classical and romantic poetry. Other experiments seek to disclose the temperamental and attitudinal factors underlying individual differences in the judgement and appreciation of specific works of art. Of particular interest are the studies of responses to modern paintings, poems and musical compositions. The findings throw light on the development of discrimination and taste and suggest the possibility of some common factor in the appreciation of these three arts. It was felt that critics as well as psychologists and aestheticians would find much to encourage reflection and to stimulate further research. □Kubla Khan□ □Poetic Structure, Hypnotic Quality and Cognitive Style Reuven Tsur, 2006-02-07 This book endorses Coleridge's statement: nothing can permanently please which does not contain in itself the reason why it is so. It conceives Kubla Khan as of a hypnotic poem in which the obtrusive rhythms produce a hypnotic, emotionally heightened response, giving false security to the Platonic Censor so that our imagination is left free to explore higher levels of uncertainty. Critics intolerant of uncertainty tend to account for the poem's effect by extraneous background information. The book consists of three parts employing different research methods Part One is speculative and discusses three aspects of a complex aesthetic event the verbal structure of Kubla Khan validity in interpretation and the influence of the critic's decision style on his critical decisions The other two parts are empirical Part Two explores reader response to gestalt qualities of rhyme patterns and hypnotic poems in perspective of decision style and professional training Part Three submits four recordings of the poem by leading British actors to instrumental investigation POETRY TERMS NARAYAN
