Therapeutic Exercise for Children with Developmental Disabilities Barbara H. Connolly, Patricia Montgomery, 2024-06-01 Therapeutic Exercise for Children With Developmental Disabilities has been expanded and updated to include everything a student or professional needs to know when working with children with developmental disabilities. Continuing the emphasis on evidence-based practice from the previous editions, this comprehensive Fourth Edition enhances critical thinking and evaluation skills. Throughout the course of the text, Drs. Barbara H. Connolly and Patricia C. Montgomery present case studies of 5 children with various developmental disabilities to bring a problem-solving approach to each individual chapter topic. The case studies include 2 two children with cerebral palsy, GMFCS Levels I and V, a child with myelomeningocele, a child with Down syndrome, and a child with developmental coordination disorder and attention deficit hyperactivity disorder. Each chapter's examination, evaluation, and intervention recommendations are accompanied by specific treatment objectives and therapeutic activities, plus a companion website with 17 videos which contains 90 minutes of content to illustrate concepts. Recent research and clinical recommendations as well as related references are also provided in each chapter. This Fourth Edition utilizes the American Physical Therapy Association's Guide to Physical Therapist Practice 3.0 and the World Health Organization's International Classification of Functioning, Disability, and Health: Children and Youth as its framework. The focus of the chapters is on children's participation and empowerment rather than body function and structure. Examples of new and updated topics in the Fourth Edition include Practice in the NICU, Early mobility strategies, Communication strategies with children and families, Aquatic therapy, Upper extremity constraint-induced therapy, Mirror therapy, Lower extremity treadmill training. With helpful videos, informative figures, and compelling case studies, Therapeutic Exercise for Children With Developmental Disabilities Fourth Edition is the perfect resource for both students and practicing clinicians.

Geriatric Medicine Christine K. Cassel, Rosanne Leipzig, Harvey Jay Cohen, Eric B. Larson, Diane E. Meier, 2006-05-29 Since the publication of the third edition of Geriatric Medicine extraordinary advances have occurred in the science of aging and the potential for biomedical research to give us answers to many if not most of the age related disorders that threaten the quality of life in older years At the most basic level the successful mapping of the human genome was declared complete in the fall of 2000 Understanding the map of the human genome is as important as understanding the map of genomes of important laboratory species ranging from the microscopic worms and fruit flies used in most classic genetic studies to rodents such as laboratory mice and eventually to primates on which much of the research on the aging human brain is done The genetic maps of all of these species including our own does not answer clinical questions but it does open the door to dramatic rapid and efficient answers to questions about the genetic polymorphisms related to diseases in humans The telomerase story also unfolded since the third edition Telomerase is an enzyme responsible for maintaining the telomeres the redundant DNA portions at the end of chromosomes whose shortening seems to be linked directly to cell senescence apoptosis and the control over cell death which at the level of the individual cell seems to be linked to the decline of organ function and eventually aging and death within the organism
