Agent Supported Cooperative Work Yiming Ye, E. Churchill, 2003-03-31. Improvements in computer networking have heralded great expectations for computer mediated distributed work. However, experience has revealed that as information flow improves a central problem for distributed workers is the administration, management and control of that information. Research into Computer Supported Cooperative Work (CSCW) investigates design methods and technologies for the support of collaboration, communication and coordination of distributed group work both within and among organizations. In tandem with this focus on the support of distributed communication and collaboration, there have been exciting developments in the fields of Intelligent Agents and Distributed Artificial Intelligence (DAI), notably in the concepts, theories and deployment of intelligent agents as a means of distributing computer based problem solving expertise The paradigm of multi agent systems forms a proposed basis for the design of CSCW architectures the support of CSCW operations and for addressing some of the problems of cooperative working The application of a multi agent approach to CSCW makes information exchange among the participants easier by delivering support to the participants assisting workflows and procedures and providing convenient user interfaces to CSCW systems Furthermore the ideas inherent in such an approach are also applicable to other domains such as support for interactive learning Organizations that seek to exploit the advantages offered through CSCW will benefit from the integration of agents in the management and use of their corporate knowledge especially with the advancement of wired or wireless networking pervasive computing and other information technologies Agent Supported Cooperative Work describes the state of the art in this exciting new area covering both theoretical foundations and practical applications of ASCW It is the first book explicitly dedicated to ASCW bringing together contributions from international experts in the field

Human-computer Interaction, INTERACT '03 Matthias Rauterberg,Marino Menozzi,Janet Wesson,2003 This work brings together papers written by researchers and practitioners actively working in the field of human computer interaction It should be of use to students who study information technology and computer sciences and to professional designers who are interested in User Interface design

A Practical Guide to Price Index and Hedonic Techniques Ana M. Aizcorbe,2014-06-12 This book provides an accessible guide to price index and hedonic techniques with a focus on how to best apply these techniques and interpret the resulting measures One goal of this book is to provide first hand experience at constructing these measures with guidance on practical issues such as what the ideal data would look like and how best to construct these measures when the data are less than ideal A related objective is to fill the wide gulf between the necessarily simplistic elementary treatments in textbooks and the very complex discussions found in the theoretical and empirical measurement literature Here the theoretical results are summarized in an intuitive way and their numerical importance is illustrated using data and results from existing studies Finally while the aim of much of the existing literature is to better understand official price indexes like the Consumer Price Index the emphasis here is more practical to provide the needed tools for individuals to apply these techniques on their own As new datasets become increasingly accessible tools like these will be needed to obtain summary price measures Indeed these techniques have been applied for years in antitrust cases that involve pricing where economic experts typically have access to large granular datasets
