Physical Science Paper Scope Finals 2014:

Time And Science - Volume 3: Physical Sciences And Cosmology Remy Lestienne, Paul Harris, 2023-06-22 The present volume of Time and Science series is devoted to Physical Sciences and Cosmology Today more than ever the question is Time an ontological property a necessary ingredient for the physical description of the world or a purely epistemological element relative to our situation in the world worry physicists and cosmologists alike For many of them Relativity and particularly General Relativity as well as its reconciliation with quantum mechanics in the elaboration of a quantum theory of gravitation points to a negative answer to the first alternative and leads them to deny the objective reality of time For others the answer is nuanced by the evidence of an emerging temporal property when one climbs the scales of the complexity of systems and or the applicability of the statistical laws of thermodynamics But for some the illusion of the unreality of time comes from certain confusions that they denounce and plead for the re establishment of time at the heart of physical theories

Innovation in Legacy Sectors William B. Bonvillian, Charles Weiss, 2015-08-18 The American economy faces two deep problems expanding innovation and raising the rate of quality job creation Both have roots in a neglected problem the resistance of Legacy economic sectors to innovation While the U S has focused its policies on breakthrough innovations to create new economic frontiers like information technology and biotechnology most of its economy is locked into Legacy sectors defended by technological economic political social paradigms that block competition from disruptive innovations that could challenge their models Americans like to build technology covered wagons and take them out west to open new innovation frontiers we don't head our wagons back east to bring innovation to our Legacy sectors By failing to do so the economy misses a major opportunity for innovation which is the bedrock of U S competitiveness and its standard of living

Technological Innovation in Legacy Sectors uses a new unifying conceptual framework to identify the shared features underlying structural obstacles to innovation in major Legacy sectors energy air and auto transport the electric power grid buildings manufacturing agriculture health care delivery and higher education and develops approaches to understand and transform them It finds both strengths and obstacles to innovation in the national innovation environments a new concept that combines the innovation system and the broader innovation context for a group of Asian and European economies Manufacturing is a major Legacy sector that presents a particular challenge because it is a critical stage in the innovation process By increasingly offshoring production the U S is losing important parts of its innovation capacity Innovate here produce here where the U S took all the gains of its strong innovation system at every stage is being replaced by innovate here produce there which threatens to lead to produce there innovate there To bring innovation to Legacy sectors authors William Bonvillian and Charles Weiss recommend that policymakers focus on all stages of innovation from research through implementation They should fill institutional gaps in the innovation system and take measures to address structural obstacles to needed disruptive innovations In the specific case of advanced manufacturing the production ecosystem can be recreated to reverse jobless innovation and add manufacturing led innovation to the U S s still strong research oriented innovation system

Brown,2014-06-16 Improving Flood Prediction Assimilating Uncertain Crowdsourced Data into Hydrologic and Hydraulic Models Maurizio Mazzoleni,2017-03-16 In recent years the continued technological advances have led to the spread of low cost sensors and devices supporting crowdsourcing as a way to obtain observations of hydrological variables in a more distributed way than the classic static physical sensors The main advantage of using these type of sensors is that they can be used not only by technicians but also by regular citizens However due to their relatively low reliability and varying accuracy in time and space crowdsourced observations have not been widely integrated in hydrological and or hydraulic models for flood forecasting applications Instead they have generally been used to validate model results against observations in post event analyses This research aims to investigate the benefits of assimilating the crowdsourced observations coming from a distributed network of heterogeneous physical and social static and dynamic sensors within hydrological and hydraulic models in order to improve flood forecasting The results of this study demonstrate that crowdsourced observations can significantly improve flood prediction if properly integrated in hydrological and hydraulic models This study provides technological support to citizen observatories of water in which citizens not only can play an active role in information capturing evaluation and communication leading to improved model forecasts and better flood management

Climate Change Adaptation and Development Tor Håkon Inderberg, Siri Eriksen, Karen O'Brien, Linda Sygna, 2014-11-20 Climate change poses multiple challenges to development It affects lives and livelihoods infrastructure and institutions as well as beliefs cultures and identities There is a growing recognition that the social dimensions of vulnerability and adaptation now need to move to the forefront of development policies and practices This book presents case studies showing that climate change is as much a problem of development as for development with many of the risks closely linked to past present and future development pathways Development policies and practices can play a key role in addressing climate change but it is critical to question to what extent such actions and interventions reproduce rather than address the social and political structures and development pathways driving vulnerability The chapters emphasise that adaptation is about much more than a set of projects or interventions to reduce specific impacts of climate change it is about living with change while also transforming the processes that contribute to vulnerability in the first place This book will help students in the field of climate change and development to make sense of adaptation as a social process and it will provide practitioners policymakers and researchers working at the interface between climate change and development with useful insights for approaching adaptation as part of a larger transformation to sustainability Britannica Book of the Year 2014

Racial Segregation and Eugenical Science Between the Wars Michael L. Blakey,2025-07-18 This volume examines the rise and decline of racial science and its relationship to the political and social imposition of Jim Crow in the American South a racialized code of laws grounded upon an inherently racist and prejudicial pseudoscience The author argues here that the study of human beings within the emerging 18th and 19th century institutions of Western science was corrupted by the limited social intuitions of its enslaving colonizing and elitist members Western science and White societies plowed forward in continued ideological adherence to a biodeterministic imagination to justify slavery then

Jim Crow racial segregation immigration restriction and other deadly and exploitative eugenical solutions of Social Darwinist thought The story is further complexified by the countervailing theories and voices of Black and Jewish intellectuals in the social and biocultural sciences in the 19th and 20th centuries such as Frederick Douglass W E B Du Bois and Montague Cobb These had profound consequences not only for the social sciences but also for the cultural life of Black Americans in the aftermath and afterlife of slavery At the same time even here the author discloses that the racialized dimensions of social science could not be fully exorcised as social science continued to construct soft line racism in that it selectively primitivized darker people and omitted White racism and colonialism from their human story African American social scientists and historians brought White racism and Black modernity to the fore Eugenics had begun to paint marginal White people Jewish and Italian immigrants to the United States as natural inferiors to Nordics or Aryans with devastating consequences in World War II Europe As the War ended the world community began its turn against racism in science and society In constructing this historical and sociological counternarrative the author provides a critical new social history that illuminates a tangled and turgid past for contemporary readers students and researchers with vital insights for anthropology sociology history cultural studies philosophy and American studies
