

NURSE PRACTITIONER

For decades the leading nursing theorists, are trying to find a satisfactory definition of this profession. The basic question is whether it is - and if so, why - nursing specific in relation to other healthcare professions: on its own theoretical basis or only by the methods of applying a single theoretical foundation that links all other medical vocations? Or are they both? That is, if we look at the needs nurses' meet and the roles they make, as some authors do, the question arises, "Which human needs can the nurses successfully satisfy more than any other healthcare professional?" From the point of view of independence, competence, freedom of initiative, etc., it is questioning whether the nurse is independent and self-initiated and for what it is competent? For the physician is known to be "competent for diagnosis and treatment" and that it sometimes referred as his unique role. But what is the "unique role" of a nurse? Historically, nursing has emerged in the practice and tradition of nurturing the sick and wounded, and care for the helpless, abandoned poor, and not to underline some special expertise and methods. Only in recent times, from Florence Nightingale to the present day, the need for a certain vocational training of caregivers or nurses was imposed. Those who are engaged in it, often as motto quote her sentence as follows: "It is often said that each a woman can be a good nurse. I, on the other hand, consider that the basic elements of the health condition require knowledge". With the latest, little tendency of extending the nursing profession in the profession, the question of the specificity of nursing and their education in relation to other parental professions is opened. As a nurse to be, I feel like taking part of your college can prepare me and provide me with knowledge on important areas such as theoretical-methodological basis expert monopoly public awareness organization and ethics. It is that all occupations are based on particular theoretical knowledge and that everyone, especially those who want to acquire the status of a profession, strives to gain a monopoly over the practical use of their segment of theoretical knowledge. Medical professions, for example, are based on physiology, biology and chemistry, while on the other hand legal professions are based on Roman law
