- Types of boundaries, plates and plate movement
- Plate boundaries

Question: What happens when two continental plates?

- Collision: Boundaries where two continental plates are moving towards each other. When the two continental plates meet, neither continental plate is so called as continental - both the left and the right side of the plate move.

How would you describe the motion of plates in a collision zone?

The plates are colliding together and creating the land to move up - this way is mountain range.

- Slip: These are the case of the plate boundary motion and after the plate motion. These are called as slip - which way the plate moves.

(Slip movement)

(Slip movement)

- Spreading: Types of plate boundaries where the plates are moving apart. These are called as spreading - which way the plate moves.

North of South America, north of India, north-west of Asia.

Highlight these locations on the map below.

How would you describe the motion of plates in a collision zone? The plates are moving.
