

The “Migrant Mother” Photo Collection by Dorothea Lange

✓ Exclusively available on IvyPanda

The definition of value in photography is critical because of its ambiguity. On the one hand, a value can be explained as a light range that creates the required contrast. On the other hand, values are introduced as principles that underline the importance of the author’s message. The collection “Migrant Mother” by Dorothea Lange is a unique example of how using black-and-white colors reproduces one of the most crucial values of maternity in migrant families. At the end of the 1930s, the photographer met Florence Thompson, an American Indian migrant, and took her pictures that became a symbol of the Great Depression in the United States. However, instead of focusing on the historical facts and conditions under which the images were created, this essay aims at describing the “text” that should be read through the chosen visuals. Lange’s collection is characterized by a strong family value of maternity that can be challenged by certain external factors and provoke various human emotions but will never be neglected or misunderstood in modern culture.

Although the visuals introduce the same family within the same environment, their texts can be described differently. In the first image (fig.1), attention is paid to the face of a migrant mother while the children’s faces are hidden. Even in the preferred black-and-white colors, it is possible to discover a variety of interesting aspects. The mother does not look directly at the camera but has much to tell. Her children lean on her shoulders, proving the despair and incomprehension of the situation. In the second image (fig.2), a whole family is represented, with most members under the tent and one girl outside, sitting on a wooden rocking chair. All of them, except the youngest baby, look directly at the camera as if they want to share something but are unsure if they have to do it. The last image (fig.3) pictures the mother feeding her child. She is not shy about the necessity of breastfeeding as it is the only reliable source of food the mother can offer. Her eyes are half-open as if she is tired of everything around her but has nothing to do but fulfill her obligation.

The value of motherhood is common for the collection of images under consideration. The Great Depression was a terrible period in American history, and it had multiple devastating effects and damaged human lives regardless of people’s age,
