Ashburton Avenue Master Plan and Urban Renewal Plan/Mulford Gardens HOPE VI Revitalization Plan ,2006 Power at the Roots Miranda J. Martinez,2010-09-25 Through direct engagement with gardeners activists and residents Miranda Martinez shows the breadth and diversity of the community gardening movement and how these groups inserted themselves into local politics and development to create change She demonstrates how real people are effective as social forces amid large scale urban change and looks at the complexities and contradictions involved in transformations of urban neighborhoods One of the most important contributions of this study is its focus on the Puerto Ricans of the Lower East Side and their struggle to sustain its Latinidad It goes deeply into the ethnic and cultural significance at the neighborhood and personal level to show the contradictory meanings of gentrification to Puerto Ricans and others and more importantly the ways that the history and culture of Puerto Ricans are ignored devalued and erased By going to the grassroots this book vividly demonstrates how Puerto Ricans interact with the global and local trends involved in gentrification and how the struggles against displacement can alter the boundaries of the process

Mothers United Andrea Dyrness,2013-11-30 In urban American school systems the children of recent immigrants and low income parents of color disproportionately suffer from overcrowded classrooms lack of access to educational resources and underqualified teachers The challenges posed by these problems demand creative solutions that must often begin with parental intervention But how can parents without college educations American citizenship English literacy skills or economic stability organize to initiate change on behalf of their children and their community In Mothers United Andrea Dyrness chronicles the experiences of five Latina immigrant mothers in Oakland

California one of the most troubled urban school districts in the country as they become informed and engaged advocates for their children's education. These women who called themselves Madres Unidas Mothers United joined a neighborhood group of teachers and parents to plan a new small and autonomous neighborhood based school to replace the overcrowded Whitman School. Collaborating with the author among others to conduct interviews and focus groups with teachers, parents, and students, these mothers moved from isolation and marginality to take on unfamiliar roles as researchers and community activists while facing resistance from within the local school district. Mothers United illuminates the mothers' journey to create their own space centered around the kitchen table that enhanced their capacity to improve their children's lives. At the same time, Dyrness critiques how community organizers, teachers, and educational policy makers, despite their democratic rhetoric, repeatedly asserted their right as experts reproducing the injustice they hoped to overcome. A powerful, inspiring story about self-learning, consciousness raising, and empowerment, Mothers United offers important lessons for school reform movements everywhere.
