

The first step in the process of creating a new product is to identify the market need. This involves conducting market research to determine the size and nature of the market, the needs and preferences of potential customers, and the competitive landscape. Once the market need has been identified, the next step is to develop a product concept. This involves creating a detailed description of the product, including its features, benefits, and target market. The product concept is then used to develop a business plan, which outlines the financial and operational aspects of the product. The business plan is then used to secure funding and launch the product.
