Daily Graphic Ransford Tetteh, 2014-09-10 Environmental Science and Information Application Technology David Chan, 2015-06-29 Environmental Science and Information Application Technology contains selected papers from the 2014 5th International Conference on Environmental Science and Information Application Technology ESIAT 2014 Hong Kong 7 8 November 2014 The book covers a wide variety of topics Global Environmental Change and Ecosystems Management Graphic and I ICTES 2018 Robbi Rahim, Kadek Suranata, Ifdil Ifdil, Itsar Bolo Rangka, 2019-03-13 The technical program of The First ICTES 2018 consisted of 114 full papers Aside from the high quality technical paper presentations we also held workshop and clinic manuscript that was carried out before the main track aims to strengthen the ability to write scientific publications Coordination with the steering chairs Dr Kadek Suranata S Pd M Pd Kons and the members of organizing committee is essential for the success of the conference We sincerely appreciate all the Advisory Boards for the constant support and guidance It was also a great pleasure to work with such an excellent organizing committee team for their hard work in organizing and supporting the conference In particular the Scientific Committee led by Cand Dr Robbi Rahim M Kom have completed the peer review process of technical papers and made a high quality technical program We are also grateful to Students Conference chairs were leading by Ida Ayu Made Diah Paramiswari for their support and all the authors who submitted their papers to the First ICTES 2018 We strongly believe that ICTES conference provides a good forum for all academicians researchers and practitioners to discuss all Educational science and technology aspects that are relevant to issues and challenge for sustainability in the 4th industrial revolution We also expect that the future ICTES conference will be as successful and stimulating as indicated by the contributions presented in this volume Teaching Climate Change to Children Rebecca Woodard, Kristine M. Schutz, 2024 Teaching Climate Change to Children describes the journey of two literacy researchers to learn about climate change and support relevant literacy pedagogy for young children pre K 6 The authors argue that climate change and social justice are inextricable from each other that children in the younger grades are capable of learning about climate change and that reading writing and language study is well suited to this work Three anchoring themes are offered to support literacy climate pedagogy interconnectivity relationality and action with rich classroom examples and different entry points to engage with these themes either by starting small or going big The text includes chapters on the importance of taking an emotionally affirming stance and on the potential of incorporating arts based methods With love for the Earth and one another at its core this accessible book takes a broad view of what it means to cultivate sustainable futures for our planet for teachers and for children in today s schools Book Features A unique focus on teaching about climate change to young children as opposed to adolescents Insights drawn from a yearlong teacher inquiry group with classroom teachers and from literacy methods courses with preservice teachers Explicit attention to the importance of humanizing and care based practices in literacy climate pedagogy Classroom examples collected across four urban public schools where teachers used the activities and resources discussed in the book User friendly textboxes with suggestions and questions to guide discussion reflection and action

The State of the Art in Student Engagement Carl Senior, 2015-07-10 There is an extensive literature conducted from a range of theoretical perspectives and methodologies on the role of groups and student learning in higher education However here the concept of the group is heavily contested at a theoretical level but within higher education practice characterizing the group has tended to be clear cut Groups of students are often formed within the parameters of specific educational programs to address explicitly defined learning objectives These groups are often small scale and achieve tasks through cooperative or collaborative learning Cooperative learning involves students dividing roles and responsibilities between group members so learning becomes an independent process and outcome On the other hand collaborative learning involves students working together by developing shared meanings and knowledge to solve a task or problem From this perspective learning is conceptualized as both a social process and individual outcome That is collaborative learning may facilitate individual student conceptual understanding and hence lead to higher academic achievement The empirical evidence is encouraging as has been shown that students working collaboratively tend to achieve higher grades than students working independently However the above perspectives on student engagement assume that groups are formed within the confines of formal learning environments e g lecture theaters involve students on the same degree program have the explicit function of achieving a learning task and disband once this has been achieved However students may also use existing social networks such as friendship groups as a mechanism for learning which may occur outside of formal learning environments There is an extensive literature on the role and benefits of friendship groups on student learning within primary and secondary education but there is a distinct lack of research within higher education This ebook is innovative and ambitious and will highlight and consolidate the current understanding of the role that student based engagement behaviors may serve in effective pedagogy A unique aspect of this research topic will be the fact that scholars will also be welcome to submit articles that describe the efficacy of the full range of approaches that have been employed to facilitate student engagement across the sector
