Fish, 2012-12-06 Richard Fox Chairman Scientific Programme Committee Between 25th and 29th September 1988 243 people who either apply or research the use of computers in fermentation gathered together at Robinson College Cambridge UK They came from 30 countries The conference brought together two traditions Firstly it continued the series on Computer Applications in Fermentation Technology ICCAFT inaugurated by Henri Blanchere in Dijon in 1973 and carried forward in Philadelphia and Manchester Secondly it brought the expertise of the many members of the International Federation of Automatic Control IFAC who focused their attention on biotechnology at Noordwijkerhout in the Netherlands in December 1985 I am happy to say that the tradition carries on and a successor meeting will hopefully take place in the USA in 1991 If you find these proceedings useful or stimulating then we hope to see you there We set out to make ICCAFT4 a close knit friendly conference We housed all who cared to in Robinson College itself and organised no parallel sessions Because we the organisers experience difficulty with the jargon of our colleagues from other disciplines we asked Bruce Beck to present a breakfast tutorial on modern control and modelling techniques and we set up informal panel discussions after dinner on two evenings Neville Fish chaired a forum on the microbiological principles behind models while Professors Derek Linkens and Ron Leigh led a discussion on expert systems in control The Era of Assisted Reproductive Technologies Tailored to the Specific Necessities of Species, Industry and Case Reports David Martín Hidalgo, 2021-08-16 Nowadays assisted reproductive technologies ARTs have a pivotal role not only in achieving fertilization in subfertile animals but they are also involved in the management of the herd decreasing disease spread and even allowing offspring sex selection Nonetheless there are differences between species or even within species that have led researchers worldwide to focus on those differences in order to bypass these specific difficulties This Special Issue titled The Era of Assisted Reproductive Technologies Tailored to the Specific Necessities of Species Industry and Case Reports and published in Animals is composed of 12 original manuscripts and three reviews that offer an overview of current and future ARTs used to improve reproductive outcomes mainly focused on farm animals such as horse pig bovine rabbit and ovine species Thus the Special Issue covers information from the classical point of view including comparative studies of different semen extenders to the most advanced technologies of sperm selection by thermotaxis or chemoattractants as well as the improvement of sperm features by red light irradiation The female and embryo contributions to ART outcomes are also covered for instance with a study that improves our knowledge by the metabolomic description of follicular fluid composition or the description of better culture conditions of oocytes In brief this Special Issue provides a balanced overview of emerging techniques and technologies used to preserve improve rescue or even create fertility for domestic farm animals with high economic impact Plant-Microbe assessment of N₂ fixation IPC Conference Papers London, 1997 Institute of Paper Conservation. International Conference, Institute of Paper Conservation, 1998 Cellular Signaling and Apoptosis Research Alex R. Demasi, 2007

Apoptosis is the regulated form of cell death. It is a complex process defined by a set of characteristic morphological and biochemical features that involves the active participation of affected cells in a self-destruction cascade. This programmed cell death plays a critical role in physiological functions such as cell deletion during embryonic development, balancing cell number in continuously renewing tissues, and immune system development. Additionally, a dysregulation of apoptosis is underlying in numerous pathological situations such as Parkinson's disease, Alzheimer's disease, and cancer. A number of studies have pointed out an association between consumption of fruits and vegetables and certain beverages such as tea and wine, which are rich in polyphenols, with reduced risk of chronic diseases including cancer. Apoptosis is also the regulatory mechanism involved in the removal of unnecessary cells during development and in tissue homeostasis in a wide range of organisms from insects to mammals. This book focuses on cell apoptotic signalling.

Progress in Cancer Drug Resistance Research Robert A. Parsons, 2007. One of the main causes of failure in the treatment of cancer is the development of drug resistance by the cancer cells. The design of cancer chemotherapy has become increasingly sophisticated, yet there is no cancer treatment that is 100 percent effective against disseminated cancer. Resistance to treatment with anticancer drugs results from a variety of factors, including individual variations in patients and somatic cell genetic differences in tumours, even those from the same tissue of origin. Frequently, resistance is intrinsic to the cancer, but as therapy becomes more and more effective, acquired resistance has also become common. The most common reason for acquisition of resistance to a broad range of anticancer drugs is expression of one or more energy-dependent transporters that detect and eject anti-cancer drugs from cells, but other mechanisms of resistance, including insensitivity to drug-induced apoptosis and induction of drug detoxifying mechanisms, probably play an important role in acquired anticancer drug resistance. Studies on mechanisms of cancer drug resistance have yielded important information on how to circumvent this resistance to improve cancer chemotherapy and have implications for pharmacokinetics of many commonly used drugs.

Microtubules and Microtubule Inhibitors, 1985 M. de Brabander, Jan de Mey, 1985 Frontiers in Cell Apoptosis Research Scott R. Erlich, 2007. Apoptosis is the regulated form of cell death. It is a complex process defined by a set of characteristic morphological and biochemical features that involves the active participation of affected cells in a self-destruction cascade. This book provides studies in the field of apoptosis research.

Environmental Contamination Jatin Srivastava, 2012-02-29. Nature minimizes the hazards while man maximizes them. This is not an assumption but a basic idea of the findings of scientists from all over the world. The last two centuries have witnessed the indiscriminate development and overexploitation of natural resources by man, causing alterations and impairment of our own environment. Environmental contamination is the result of the irrational use of resources at the wrong place and at the wrong time. Environmental contamination has changed the lifestyle of people.

virtually all over the world and has reduced the extent of life on earth Today we are bound to compromises with such environmental conditions which was not anticipated for the sustenance of humanity and other life forms Let us find out the problem and its management within this book Molecular Logic and Computational Synthetic Biology Madalena Chaves,Manuel A. Martins,2019-04-27 This book collects the revised selected proceedings of the First International Symposium in Molecular Logic and Computational Synthetic Biology MLCSB held in Chile Santiago in December 2018 The volume contains 7 full revised papers along with 2 surveys from 19 submissions presented at the symposium One of the goals of the MLCSB 2018 was to explore the potential of molecular logic frameworks to study the emerging behavioural patterns in biological networks combining discrete continuous and stochastic features and resorting both to specific or general purpose analysis and verification techniques The Role of Drosophila Origin Recognition Complex in DNA Replication and Mitosis Michelle Freda Pflumm,2000 Molecular Biomarkers in Animal Reproduction Jordi Roca,Isabel Barranco,Cristina Alicia Martinez,2022-01-19 International Journal of Oncology ,2008 Systems biology and ecology of microbial mat communities Martin G. Klotz,Donald A. Bryant,Jim K. Fredrickson,William P. Inskeep,Michael K hl,2016-04-11 Microbial mat communities consist of dense populations of microorganisms embedded in exopolymers and or biomineralized solid phases and are often found in mm cm thick assemblages which can be stratified due to environmental gradients such as light oxygen or sulfide Microbial mat communities are commonly observed under extreme environmental conditions deriving energy primarily from light and or reduced chemicals to drive autotrophic fixation of carbon dioxide Microbial mat ecosystems are regarded as living analogues of primordial systems on Earth and they often form perennial structures with conspicuous stratifications of microbial populations that can be studied in situ under stable conditions for many years Consequently microbial mat communities are ideal natural laboratories and represent excellent model systems for studying microbial community structure and function microbial dynamics and interactions and discovery of new microorganisms with novel metabolic pathways potentially useful in future industrial and or medical applications Due to their relative simplicity and organization microbial mat communities are often excellent testing grounds for new technologies in microbiology including micro sensor analysis stable isotope methodology and modern genomics Integrative studies of microbial mat communities that combine modern biogeochemical and molecular biological methods with traditional microbiology macro ecological approaches and community network modeling will provide new and detailed insights regarding the systems biology of microbial mats and the complex interplay among individual populations and their physicochemical environment These processes ultimately control the biogeochemical cycling of energy and or nutrients in microbial systems Similarities in microbial community function across different types of communities from highly disparate environments may provide a deeper basis for understanding microbial community dynamics and the ecological role of specific microbial populations Approaches and concepts developed in highly constrained relatively stable natural communities may also provide insights useful for studying and understanding more complex microbial communities
