quantitatively in increasing the number of nation States and qualitatively in changing patterns of interests and claims This was bound to result in new pressures on the international legal system itself and in a questioning of the traditional Eurocentric content of international law In his work and teaching Professor Abi Saab viewed the dynamics of international law as a function of two driving forces the emergence of the third world and the sense of injustice In his view the first driving force the emergence of the third world raised the problem of exclusion exclusion from participation in the elaboration of international law and the decision making process and exclusion as beneficiaries of the resulting rules of international law At the same time this new force introduced diversity into the international scene reflecting the richness of the international community in its different facets This process remains relevant today reflecting the contemporary problem of exclusion of new actors as well as their quest for participation The second driving force the sense of injustice posed a teleological problem for him that of defining community values in order that they capture the different facets of justice whether formal or distributive So long as there is no effective organic structure international law in his view will continue to remain effectiveness oriented reflecting rather than impacting on the structures of power Nevertheless it is undeniable that there is an on going process of development of community values and interests as Georges Abi Saab wrote with reference to international crimes law like all social phenomena is a continuous unfolding a continuous process of elaboration He has also considered that the dynamics of the international legal process itself can be captured from the perspective of international organizations as vehicles for change in the international system From his early writings Georges Abi Saab approached the United Nations Charter as a blueprint both normative and institutional for a certain type of international society International institutions with all their imperfections continue for him to be the means of realization of the law of cooperation which lies at the heart of his concept of the international system The themes selected for this volume in honour of Professor Georges Abi Saab are intended to reflect his unique and pioneering contribution to the field of international law The contributors are drawn from what he has always considered to be his large family of former students in his forty years of teaching Georges Abi Saab has acted as mentor to generations of students from all over the world who have benefited from his vision insights originality and creative and stimulating use of language The contributors also include colleagues and friends who share a similar vision of the international legal system

Politique internationale de l'environnement Jean-Frédéric Morin, Amandine Orsini, Maya Jegen, 2015 What is a Fair International Society? Emmanuelle Tourme

Jouannet, 2014-07-18 Today's world is post colonial and post Cold War These twin characteristics explain why international society is also riddled with the two major forms of injustice which Nancy Fraser identified as afflicting national societies First the economic and social disparities between states caused outcry in the 1950s when the first steps were taken towards decolonisation These inequalities to which a number of emerging states now contribute are still glaring and still pose the problem of the gap between formal equality and true equality Second international society is increasingly confronted with culture and identity related claims stretching the dividing line between equality and difference The less favoured states those that feel stigmatised but also native peoples ethnic groups minorities and women now aspire to both legal recognition of their equal dignity and the protection of their identities and cultures Some even seek reparation for injustices arising from the past violation of their identities and the confiscation of their property or land In answer to these two forms of claim the subjects of international society have come up with two types of remedy encapsulated in legal rules the law of development and the law of recognition These two sets of rights are neither wholly autonomous and individualised branches of law nor formalised sets of rules They are imperfect and have their dark side Yet they can be seen as the first milestones towards what might become a fairer international society one that is both equitable as an answer to socio economic injustice and decent as an answer to cultural injustice This book explores this evolution in international society setting it in historical perspective and examining its presuppositions and implications

Relations internationales, 1979 EFPA ESG Handbook Collective of authors, 2024-03-01 Since the 2021 the financial industry evolved to include ESG criteria in its products and processes Thanks to regulatory pressures and public opinion Sustainable Finance is becoming THE new standard for financial centres across Europe However a lack of knowledge and common definitions are still present to define its key concepts Since 2021 EFPA Luxembourg launched an original initiative to democratise best practices in Sustainable Finance and establish clear and common definitions for its key concepts Today the EFPA ESG Handbook is joined by more than fifty entities and seventy co authors sharing the same ambitions Over the EFPA ESG Advisor certification launched in 2021 and owned by more than 8 000 financial advisors across Europe the European Financial Planning Association EFPA wants to help to close the gap between the current level of information and the level necessary due to increasing regulatory requirements around the integration of ESG criterion This is why the EFPA ESG Handbook is becoming digital with the addition of a dedicated website to enrich its content improve its update and avoid its obsolescence On this site and on top of their handbook owners of the EFPA ESG Handbook will find enriched content a regularly updated information base and practical tools for filtering the various headings on the site History regulation investment products investment process risk management this handbook offers a 360 point of view over the landscape of the Green Finance We hope this journey will help the reader to have a better understanding of what Sustainable Finance means looking at its framework its aims and its challenges I wish you a pleasant reading

Annuaire Europeen 1988 - European Yearbook 1988 P. Drillien, Council of Europe/Conseil de L'Europe, 1990-03-26 The European Yearbook has expanded over the years in keeping with the role played by European institutions compared with national ones It is an indispensable work of reference for anyone dealing with these institutions which have become so numerous varied that no one can possibly memorise all their acronyms or functions The European Yearbook provides aids for finding one's way through the labyrinth of these organisations which coordinate a variety of activities in over 20 countries One of the aids is an organisation chart at the beginning of the documentary section giving a clear picture of the general situation A perusal of the many contributions in the volume organisation by organisation shows the full diversity of the activities which Europe is gradually taking over from national governments with their consent financial support Written in both of the Council of Europe's official languages English French the European Yearbook also contains a general index by subject name which constitutes a very valuable list of articles provides direct access to the work's subject matter regardless of the particular organisation concerned offering a kind of cross section of the activities of European organisations
