Polke Richter Richter Polke:

Gerhard Richter Christine Mehring, Jeanne Anne Nugent, Jon L. Seydl, 2010 New scholarship explores Gerhard Richter's often overlooked early work      Gerhard Richter Dietmar Elger, 2009 This fascinating book offers unprecedented insight into artist Gerhard Richter's life and work From his childhood in Nazi Germany to his time in the West during the turbulent 1960s and 70s this work presents a complete portrait of the often reclusive Richter      Gerhard Richter Robert Storr, Gerhard Richter, 2002 Tour of the exhibition the Museum of Modern Art New York Feb 14 May 21 2002 and others      Sigmar Polke, Arnulf Rainer, Gerhard Richter , 2000      Daphne Sigmar Polke, Reiner Speck, 2004 In Greek mythology Daphne is the nymph who runs from Apollo's love determined not to marry She ends up a Laurel tree In contemporary art mythology Sigmar Polke is a magician who transforms seemingly unrelated imagery and techniques into whirlwind idiosyncratic collages that astonish the expectant eye And then there is this object Daphne an artist's book created by Sigmar Polke An oversize anthology of sources of visual inspiration a photocopied book that paradoxically reveals the artist's hand a sketchbook for the machine age Daphne runs and runs is caught by the photocopier and runs some more only to be bound in the end Created directly by Polke himself Daphne is a book with 23 chapters illustrated in large format photocopies Each copy of the book differs as each has been photocopied and manipulated individually pulled from the machine by the hand and watchful eye of the artist Process is revealed over and over again Motifs accumulate page after page as do small graphic cycles The printed dot the resolution the subject and the speed all determine and are determined by the apparently unpredictable and often impenetrable secret of a picture whose drafts are akin to the waste products of a copying machine Even if the motifs in this book provide but a brief insight into the artist's hitherto secret files and archives it is still a significant one For the first time we witness an artist's book with such an aura of authenticity that Walter Benjamin's seminal essay Art in the Age of Mechanical Reproduction bears consequent re-reading Produced in a limited edition of 1 000 copies each of which has been numbered and signed by Sigmar Polke      How it all began , 2004      Toward Fewer Images Philipp Ekardt, 2019-03-26 The first English language monograph devoted to the full oeuvre of Alexander Kluge the prolific German filmmaker television producer digital entrepreneur author thinker and public intellectual Alexander Kluge born 1932 is a German filmmaker author television producer theorist and digital entrepreneur Since 1960 he has made fourteen feature films and twenty short films and has written more than thirty books including three with Marxist philosopher Oskar Negt His television production company has released more than 3 000 features in which Kluge converses with real or fictional experts or creates thematic montages He also maintains a website on which he reassembles segments from his film and television work To call Kluge prolific would be an understatement This is the first English language monograph devoted to the full scope of Kluge's work from his appearance on the cultural scene in the 1960s to his contributions to New German Cinema in the 1970s and early 1980s to his recent collaborations with such artists as Gerhard Richter In Toward Fewer Images Philipp

Ekardt offers both close analyses of Kluge's individual works and sustained investigations of his overarching and perpetual production. Ekardt discusses Kluge's image theory and practice as developed across different media and considers how in relation to this theory Kluge returns to, varies, expands and modifies the practice of montage including its recent manifestations in digital media, noting Kluge's counterintuitive claim that creating montages results in fewer images. Kluge's production, Ekardt argues, allows us to imagine a model of authorship and artistic production that does not rely on an accumulation of individual works over time but rather on a permanent activity of temporalized reworking and redifferentiation.

Leben mit Pop Manfred Kuttner, Christopher Williams, M. Darsie Alexander, Städtische Kunsthalle Düsseldorf, 2013. Gerhard Richter, Konrad Lueg, Sigmar Polke and Manfred Kuttner coined the term Capitalist Realism on the occasion of their self-organised exhibitions in Düsseldorf in 1963. Although they only used the term themselves for a short period and quickly distanced themselves from their perception as a group of artists, Capitalist Realism represented a specific conception of art in post-war West Germany that has remained controversial to this day. This exhibition publication is the first fully dedicated to this important phenomenon. The main exhibitions and actions are documented in image and text and the international art historical and social context is illuminated from different perspectives. Both exhibition and catalogue substantiate the topicality of one of the most intense and influential tendencies of the postwar period.

Baselitz, Richter, Polke, Kiefer Götz Adriani, 2019. Four artists from Germany known globally who have each attained a level of fame that is unique in the history of German art. Their renown was cemented by their early work of the 1960s, that decade of reaction and rebellion, of confrontation and upheaval, of utopias and a new social compass. In conversations with Götz Adriani, the artists talk frankly about their work during this time when German society, East and West, may have got over the Nazi regime and the worst of the devastation of the war but not the cultural and intellectual roots of Germany's fascist past. The book offers a fresh and comprehensive look at the early works of Baselitz, Richter, Polke and Kiefer at how each one variously tackled the aesthetic dominance of abstract art and the unique social and political environment of their newly founded country, the Federal Republic of Germany.

Difference and Democracy Kolja Raube, Annika Sattler, 2011-11-14. Differenz ist eine noch häufig vernachlässigte Dimension sozialer Interaktion, die jedoch als Forschungsfeld an Bedeutung gewinnt. Der Band untersucht das positive Potenzial von Differenz der Ideen, Interessen oder Institutionen und zeigt unter welchen Bedingungen sie einen Gewinn für effektives und legitimes Handeln in demokratischen Systemen darstellt. Die Beiträge sind Politikwissenschaftler, Soziologen, Kommunikationswissenschaftler, Rechtswissenschaftler und Kunsthistoriker.

The Recording Machine Joshua Shannon, 2017-07-11. A revealing look at the irrevocable change in art during the 1960s and its relationship to the modern culture of fact. This refreshing and erudite book offers a new understanding of the transformation of photography and the visual arts around 1968. Author Joshua Shannon reveals an oddly stringent realism in the period, tracing artists' rejection of essential truths in favor of surface appearances. Dubbing this tendency 'factualism', Shannon illuminates not only the Cold War's preoccupation with data but also the rise of a pervasive culture of fact. Focusing on the United States and West Germany where photodocumentary traditions intersected with 1960s politics, Shannon investigates a broad variety of art ranging from conceptual photography and earthworks to photorealist painting and abstraction. He looks closely at art by Bernd and Hilla Becher, Robert Bechtle, Vija Celmins, Douglas Huebler, Gerhard Richter, and others. These artists explored fact's role as a modern paradigm for talking, thinking, and knowing. Their art, Shannon concludes, helps to explain both the ambivalent anti-humanism of today's avant-garde art and our own culture of fact.

After Modern Art

David Hopkins, 2018-06-20. Contemporary art can be baffling and beautiful, provocative and disturbing. This pioneering book presents a new look at the controversial period between 1945 and 2015 when art and its traditional forms were called into question. It focuses on the relationship between American and European art and challenges previously held views about the origins of some of the most innovative ideas in art of this time. Major artists such as Jackson Pollock, Robert Rauschenberg, Andy Warhol, Joseph Beuys, Gerhard Richter, Louise Bourgeois, Cindy Sherman, Jeff Koons, and Shiran Neshat are all discussed as is the art world of the last fifty years. Important trends are also covered, including Abstract Expressionism, Pop Art, Minimalism, Conceptualism, Postmodernism, and Performance Art. This revised and updated second edition includes a new chapter exploring art since 2000 and how globalization has caused shifts in the art world, an updated Bibliography, and 16 new colour illustrations.

Sigmar Polke
Stefan Gronert, 2019-08-13. An illustrated exploration of

Girlfriends 1965-66, one of Sigmar Polke's important early paintings. The artist Sigmar Polke (1941-2010) worked across a broad range of media including photography, painting, printmaking, sculpture, and film, and in styles that varied from abstract expressionism to Pop. This volume in Afterall's One Work series offers an illustrated exploration of Freundinnen Girlfriends 1965-66, one of Polke's important early paintings. Taken from a found image of two young women and using the raster dots also found in mass media reproductions, Girlfriends offers a statement about the use and social function of images. Stefan Gronert approaches Girlfriends through its deliberate and elusive ambiguity, providing technical detail and historical background that allow some of the work's motivation and depth to become clearer. Gronert analyzes Polke's relationship to his tutors and peers, especially Gerhard Richter, describes the art historical context in which Polke worked, and discusses some of the social and political issues to which Girlfriends refers. Considering such topics as the distinction between Polke and Alain Jacquet in their use of photographed material between Polke's use of the raster technique and that of Roy Lichtenstein and the feminist discourse of the time, Gronert draws on a variety of critical interpretations of Polke's work including some material that has not yet been translated into English.

The Judith Rothschild Foundation Contemporary Drawings Collection Christian Rattemeyer, 2009. Formed by Harvey S. Shipley, Miller trustee of the Judith Rothschild Foundation and given to MoMA in 2005. The Judith Rothschild Foundation Contemporary Drawings Collection was conceived to be a broad survey of contemporary drawing practice and it more than fulfills that goal, mixing drawings of the 1960s and 1970s with major works of the past twenty years by such artists as Kai Althoff, Robert Crumb, Peter Doig, Marcel Dzama, Mark Grotjahn, Charline von Heyl, Martin Kippenberger, Sherrie Levine, Agnes Martin, Fred Sandback, Paul Theil, and Andrea Zittel among many others. This definitive catalogue raisonné presents the collection as a whole with an introduction by Christian Rattemeyer, five essays each focusing on a different geographic area of artistic production, images throughout, and a text on paper conservation.

Material Meanings Matthew S. Witkovsky, 2020-03-24. Featuring highlights from Constance R. Caplan's noted collection of 20th and 21st century art, this publication considers artworks from different media as material objects.

The Rise and Fall of American Art, 1940s-1980s Catherine Dossin, 2016-03-03. In The Rise and Fall of American Art 1940s-1980s, Catherine Dossin challenges the now mythic perception of New York as the undisputed center of the art world between the end of World War II and the fall of the Berlin Wall, a position of power that brought the city prestige, money, and historical recognition. Dossin reconstructs the concrete factors that led to the shift of international attention from Paris to New York in the 1950s and documents how peripheries such as Italy, Belgium, and West Germany exerted a decisive influence on this displacement of power. As the US economy sank into recession in the 1970s, however, American artists and dealers became increasingly dependent on the support of Western Europeans, and cities like Cologne and Turin emerged as major commercial and artistic hubs, a development that enabled European artists to return to the forefront of the international art scene in the 1980s. Dossin analyses in detail these changing distributions of geopolitical and symbolic power in the Western art world, a story that spans two continents, forty years, and hundreds of actors. Her transnational and interdisciplinary study provides an original and welcome supplement to more traditional formal and national readings of the period.

This book challenges the perception of New York as the undisputed center of the art world between the end of World War II and the fall of the Berlin Wall, a position of power that brought the city prestige, money, and historical recognition. In her transnational and interdisciplinary study, Dossin analyses changing distributions of geopolitical and symbolic power in the Western art world, a story that spans two continents, forty years, and hundreds of actors.
