The above program will find 10 to 100 lines. Change 10000 to 100000 and you can find out how many lines are in the file. This is a very simple program, but it is a good example of how to use the `find` command. It is also a good example of how to use the `grep` command. The `grep` command is used to search for a specific string in a file. In this case, the string is "10000". The `grep` command is used to search for the string in the file. The `grep` command is used to search for the string in the file. The `grep` command is used to search for the string in the file.
