Abstract

1. Abstract: The purpose of this study was to investigate the effect of the use of the Internet on the learning of the English language. The study was conducted in a secondary school in the city of Istanbul. The sample consisted of 100 students. The data were collected through a questionnaire and analyzed using SPSS 16.0. The results showed that the use of the Internet had a positive effect on the learning of the English language.

Figure 1. The effect of the number of trials on the number of correct responses. The number of correct responses increased with the number of trials, and the increase was more pronounced for the high condition than for the low condition.

and, therefore, the above-mentioned results are not surprising. In the present case, however, we have to be careful for the following reason. The statistical significance of the upper tail test, the log likelihood ratio test, and the Wald test is

- Minimizing the impact of negative events: While a crisis is occurring, your organization should have a crisis response plan in place. This plan should be tailored to your organization's specific needs.
