North West University Application Form For 2015:

Application of LC-MS/MS in the Mycotoxins Studies Laura Gámiz-Gracia, Ana M. García-Campaña, Natalia

Arroyo-Manzanares, 2020-06-17 Mycotoxins are secondary metabolites produced by the fungi of different species mainly Aspergillus, Fusarium and Penicillium with toxic effects for humans and animals. These mycotoxins can contaminate food and feed. The European Union (EU) has established the maximum permitted or recommended levels for well known mycotoxins in different foodstuffs. However, there are other mycotoxins that are not included in the regulations, the emerging mycotoxins whose toxicity is still not clear and the modified or masked mycotoxins produced as a consequence of a detoxification strategy of the host plant of the fungus or during food processing. These mycotoxins could pose a risk and should also be taken into account. In order to assure consumers' health, analytical methods for the accurate determination of mycotoxins in different food matrices and feeds are required. In this sense, liquid chromatography tandem mass spectrometry (LC-MS/MS) is a powerful tool for their unique identification and quantification. Moreover, the use of high resolution mass spectrometry (HRMS) allows one to identify novel mycotoxins and targeted/untargeted approaches for study. This Special Issue compiles recent applications of LC-MS/MS in mycotoxin studies as well as the development and validation of new analytical methods for their identification and quantification in different food matrices and feed occurrence studies and the biomonitoring of mycotoxins and their metabolites in biological fluids.

The First Global Integrated Marine Assessment United Nations, 2017-04-17 The World Ocean Assessment or to give its full title The First Global Integrated Marine Assessment is the outcome of the first cycle of the United Nations Regular Process for Global Reporting and Assessment of the State of the Marine Environment including Socioeconomic Aspects. The Assessment provides vital scientifically grounded bases for the consideration of ocean issues including climate change by governments, intergovernmental agencies, non-governmental agencies and all other stakeholders and policymakers involved in ocean affairs. Together with future assessments and related initiatives, it will support the implementation of the recently adopted 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, particularly its ocean-related goals. Moreover, it will also form an important reference text for marine science courses.

10th European Conference on Information Systems Management Paulo Silva, António Guerreiro, Rui Quaresma, 2016 The Diffusion of Law Sue Farran, James Gallen, Christa Rautenbach, 2016-03-09 In considering diffusion from a global perspective, this book provides timely new insights into its application in a variety of fields and at many levels of both legal and non-legal orderings. This collection contributes to the wider theoretical debate concerning the movement of law and legal norms by engaging with concrete examples of legal diffusion in jurisdictions as diverse as Albania, the Czech Republic, Poland and Kuwait. These examples taken together provide a comprehensive illustration of the theoretical debates concerning the diffusion of laws and norms in terms of both process and form. This international, multi-disciplinary and multi-methodological volume brings together scholars from law and social science with experience in mixed and hybrid jurisdictions and advances the conversation about legal and normative diffusion across the academy It represents a robust challenge to many preconceived ideas about legal movement and as such will be of interest to academics and students working in the fields of Law Sociology Anthropology Political Science Legal Education and comparative method

Violence, Inequality and Transformation: Apartheid Survivors on South Africa's Ongoing Transition Jasmina Brankovic, Brian Mphahlele, Sindiswa Nunu, Agnes Ngxukuma, Nompumelelo Njana, Yanelisa Sishuba, 2020-01-29 Despite its lauded political transition in 1994 South Africa continues to have among the highest levels of violence and inequality in the world Organised survivors of apartheid violations have long maintained that we cannot adequately address violence in the country let alone achieve full democracy without addressing inequality This book is built around extensive quotes from members of Khulumani Support Group the apartheid survivors social movement and young people growing up in Khulumani families It shows how these survivors who bridge the past and the present through their activism understand and respond to socioeconomic drivers of violence Pointing to the continuities between apartheid oppression and post apartheid marginalisation in everyday life the narratives detail ways in which the democratic dispensation has strengthened barriers to social transformation and helped enable violence They also present strategies for effecting change through collaboration dialogue and mutual training and through partnerships with diverse stakeholders that build on local level knowledge and community based initiatives The lens of violence offers new and manageable ways to think about reducing inequality while the lens of inequality shows that violence is a complex web of causes pathways and effects that requires a big picture approach to unravel The survivors narratives suggest innovative strategies for promoting a just transition through people driven transformation that go well beyond the constraints of South Africa's transitional justice practice to date A result of participatory research conducted in collaboration with and by Khulumani members this book will be of interest to activists students researchers and policy makers working on issues of transitional justice inequality and violence

We cannot continue like this Attie S. van Niekerk, Sytse Strijbos, 2022-02-07 The book is based on the view that the present trajectory of modern development cannot continue as it is now because it is ecologically unsustainable it continues to enlarge the gap between rich and poor and the decolonisation movement has drawn our attention again to the specific role of religion culture and value in human affairs and the need for a robust element of indigenisation and contextualisation This book is strongly focused on the context of Africa with two chapters that are written by authors from the Netherlands for the purpose of presenting a North South dialogue The book contains a reflection on approaches followed in building sustainable human communities in general and reflection on specific efforts to solve sustainability issues It seeks to integrate academic reflection and insights gained from practical involvement with sustainability issues in local communities and low income households with contributions from Theology and Natural and Social Sciences

Mother Earth, Mother Africa and Mission Seblewengel Daniel, Mmapula Diana Kebaneilwe, Angeline Savala, 2021-07-01 The volume is significant in bringing together voices of African women theologians and their allies on the urgent topic of ecology First it decisively intervenes into scholarly discourses on ecofeminism by highlighting the reflections of African women scholars and African women as subjects This function of the volume is very important both at local and global levels Second it contributes to contextualizing of scriptural interpretation around the issue of ecology Biblical reflection occurs throughout the volume and is put into dialogue with African traditions with ecofeminism with Africa based mission projects and with the current crisis of sustainability and African women s roles in protecting the earth Third the volume includes several concrete case studies based on interviews and grassroots qualitative research as well as especially original articles that integrate biblical exegesis of Genesis with reflections on patriarchal legal systems in Botswana and an original take on male headship in relation to ecofeminism Professor Dana L Robert Boston University USA Feminism, Dramaturgy, and the Contemporary British History Play Rebecca Benzie, 2024-08-22 When we think of the contemporary British history play why might we automatically think of playwrights such as David Hare Howard Brenton Peter Gill and Edward Bond Because for decades the writing of the history play has been the preserve of the white male This book provides a vital feminist intervention into the dramaturgy of history plays investigating work produced at major British theatres from 2000 to the present written by a generation of innovative women playwrights This much needed study explores the use of history specifically Elizabethan Restoration Victorian and early 20th century in contemporary playwriting in order to interrogate the gender politics of this work Within the framework of contemporary feminism including the pivotal MeToo movement the book looks at post 2000s feminist drama that somehow represents the past Through delving into the recurring tropes and their politics in the light of current feminist debate the author helps us grasp how these plays essentially re imagine gender politics Plays that are considered include Emilia Morgan Lloyd Malcolm Swive Elizabeth Ella Hickson An August Bank Holiday Lark Deborah McAndrew The Empress Tanika Gupta Red Velvet Lolita Chakrabarti Scuttlers Rona Munro I Joan Charlie Josephine Blue Stockings and Nell Gwynn Jessica Swale and the musical Six Toby Marlow and Lucy Moss Self-directed multimodal learning in higher education Jako Olivier, 2020-12-31 This book aims to provide an overview of theoretical and practical considerations in terms of self directed multimodal learning within the university context Multimodal learning is approached in terms of the levels of multimodality and specifically blended learning and the mixing of modes of delivery contact and distance education As such this publication will provide a unique snapshot of multimodal practices within higher education through a self directed learning epistemological lens The book covers issues such as what self directed multimodal learning entails mapping of specific publications regarding blended learning blended learning in mathematics geography natural science and computer literacy comparative experiences in distance education as well as situated and culturally appropriate learning in multimodal contexts This book provides a unique focus on multimodality in terms of learning and delivery within the context of self directed learning Therefore the publication would not only advance the scholarship of blended and open distance learning in South Africa but also the contribute to enriching the discourse regarding self direction From this book readers will get an impression of the latest trends in literature in terms of multimodal self directed learning in South Africa as well as unique empirical work being done in this regard Glimpses into Primary School Teacher Education in South Africa Sarah Gravett, Elizabeth Henning, 2020-11-05 This book explores the current landscape of Initial Teacher Education ITE in primary schools in South Africa Considering recent policy directives and initiatives it highlights the dilemmas of ITE for the primary school and gives a thorough account of innovations and initiatives to improve ITE The book presents what works best for quality preparation of teachers in the Global South where many children rely on their teachers and school life to break the cycle of poverty Chapters draw on evidence from workplace learning pre service study and primary school teacher education policy to highlight examples of promising change in teacher education in South Africa addressing the clichés of theory versus practice head on This book successfully brings out the challenging aspects of teacher education for childhood learning which has otherwise been regarded as the softer option for a career in education This book will be of great interest for academics researchers and post graduate students in the fields of teacher education African education educational policy international education and comparative education
