Coefficients in Astrochemistry T.J. Millar,D.A. Williams,2012-12-06 An attempt has been made to collate the numbers of certain molecules in interstellar space A search for the bands of CH O DR en and C2 would appear to be promising P Swings and L Rosenfeld Astrophysical Journal 86 483 1937 This may have been the first attempt at modelling interstellar chemistry As with models today the methods used lacked reliability but the speculation was impressive Mark Twain might well have said of this infant subject One gets such wholesale returns of conjecture out of such a trifling investment of fact The detection of unidentified lines around the period that Swings and Rosenfeld were writing provoked much interest but even the most optimistic speculator could hardly have imagined developments which would occur during the next 50 years By 1987 about 70 varieties of molecule had been identified in the interstellar and circumstellar regions They range in complexity from simple diatomics such as H₂ and CO to such species as ethanol C₂H₅OH acetone CH₃CO and the largest interstellar molecule detected so far cyano penta acetylene HC₁₁N The study of these molecules in astronomy has developed enormously especially over the last 20 years and is now codified in the new subject of astrochemistry That such a variety of chemical species should exist in tenuous regions of the Galaxy is fascinating Journal of the Society of Chemical Industry Society of Chemical Industry (Great Britain),1919 Chemistry and Industry ,1991 Journal of the Society of Chemical Industry ,1909 The Chemical News and Journal of Physical Science ,1903 STEM, Social Mobility and Equality Kate Hoskins,Bernard Barker,2020-07-25 This book examines the role of the family in intra and inter generational social movement The authors take a genealogical approach to researching social mobility using a university chemistry department as a case study to explore participants motives for pursuing a STEM undergraduate degree and the influences that have shaped them Assessing the roles of genealogy family and higher education in shaping their aspirations and careers the authors examine the contributions of these variables to the students aspirations With a wealth of empirically rich qualitative data the authors identify areas where work is required to achieve greater equality of access to high performing chemistry departments and enhance career outcomes which could be applied more widely This book will appeal to scholars of educational inequalities and widening access particularly in terms of STEM education Chemical Age ,1922

Atmospheric Ozone as a Climate Gas Wei-Chyung Wang,Ivar S. Isaksen,2013-06-29 One of the major findings in the 1992 IPCC report and the 1994 World Meteorological Organization s Ozone Assessment report was the identification of possible climatic effects over the last few decades resulting from anthropogenically induced changes in atmospheric ozone

The initial quantitative estimates of their direct climatic effects indicate significant impacts though large uncertainties exist and studies using general circulation models are needed. A point that needs to be addressed in particular is that atmospheric ozone differs from greenhouse gases in that it is formed and destroyed by chemical processes in the atmosphere due to interaction involving a large number of source gases e.g. H_2 , NO , CO_2 , NMHC, N_2O , CH_4 and the CFCs. Therefore the indirect effect of climate chemistry 2-4 interaction involving atmospheric ozone is an important aspect for consideration in general circulation models. During the last few years there have been several international workshops related to atmospheric ozone. In 1987 a NATO workshop on atmospheric ozone was held in Lillehammer, Norway. More recently two workshops were organized to discuss the topic: General Circulation Model Study of Climate Chemistry Interaction. The first was held August 19-21, 1992 in Oslo, Norway and the second held May 26-27, 1993 in Albany, New York, USA. The two workshops were IAMAP activities under the Trace Constituent Working Group.
