

Installing your television set

1 Positioning the television set

Place your TV on a solid stable surface. To avoid danger do not expose the TV to water, or a heat source (e.g. lamp, candle, radiator). Do not obstruct the ventilation grid at the rear.

2 Connecting the aerials

- Insert the aerial plug into the  socket at the rear of the set.
- Connect the power lead to the television and the mains plug into the wall socket (220-240 V/50 Hz). For connecting other appliances see page p.12.

3 Switching on

To switch on the set, press the POWER key. A green indicator comes on and the screen lights up. Go straight to the Quick Installation chapter. If the TV remains in standby mode (red indicator), press the P +/- key on the remote control. The indicator will flash when you use the remote control.

Popular Photography ,1984-03 HWM ,2004-02 Singapore s leading tech magazine gives its readers the power to decide with its informative articles and in depth reviews Visual Perception Isak L. Nilsson,William V. Lindberg,2008 In psychology visual perception is the ability to interpret information from visible light reaching the eyes The resulting perception is also known as eyesight sight or vision The various physiological components involved in vision are referred to collectively as the visual system The visual system in humans allows individuals to assimilate information from the environment. The act of seeing starts when the lens of the eye focuses an image of its surroundings onto a light sensitive membrane in the back of the eye called the retina. The retina is actually part of the brain that is isolated to serve as a transducer for the conversion of patterns of light into neuronal signals. The lens of the eye focuses light on the photoreceptive cells of the retina which detect the photons of light and respond by producing neural impulses. These signals are processed in a hierarchical fashion by different parts of the brain from the retina to the lateral geniculate nucleus to the primary and secondary visual cortex of the brain. The major problem in visual perception is that what people see is not simply a translation of retinal stimuli i.e. the image on the retina. Thus people interested in perception have long struggled to explain what visual processing does to create what we actually see. This book presents leading edge research from around the globe on this field.
