

an existing pole to a replacement pole. Planning the rigging for this job required the consideration of conductor weight, bisect tension, and guy tension.

As shown in Figure 15, the replacement pole, which was 45 feet from the groundline to the top was set into position beside an existing pole, which was 40 feet from the groundline to the top. The heights of the poles were selected for convenient calculations.

Weight Calculations

When a conductor is moved to a taller pole, the weight exerted by the conductor will increase, because the lowest point of conductor sag in the adjacent spans will be altered. The extent to which the weight increases depends on how high the conductor is lifted. The weight exerted by the conductor will increase as the lowest point of conductor sag moves towards the adjacent poles. As indicated in Figure 16, the maximum conductor lift possible, without applying undue strain to the tie wires at the adjacent poles, occurs when the lowest point of the conductor sag is right at the adjacent poles.
