America and the Making of Modern Turkey Ali Erken, 2018-03-30 After the fall of the Ottoman Empire Mustafa Kemal Atatürk's government encouraged substantial American investment in education and aid It was argued that

Turkey needed the technical skills and wealth offered by American education and so a series of American schools was set up across the country to educate the Turkish youth Here Ali Erken in the first study of its kind argues that these organizations had a huge impact on political and economic thought in Turkey acting as a form of soft power for US national interests throughout the 20th Century Robert College originally a missionary school founded by US benefactors has been responsible for educating two Turkish Prime Ministers writers such as Orhan Pamuk and a huge number of influential economists politicians and journalists The end result of these American philanthropic efforts Erken argues was a consensus in the 1970s that the country must westernize This mindset and the opposition viewpoint it engendered has come to define political struggle in modern Turkey torn between a capitalist modern West and an Islamic Ottoman East The book also reveals how and why the Rockefeller and Ford foundations funneled large amounts of money into Turkey post 1945 and undertook activities in support of Western candidates in Turkey as a bulwark against the Soviet Union This is an essential contribution to the history of US Turkish relations and the influence of the West in Turkish political thought
