North West University Aps:

A Voyage to the North West Side of America Robert Galois, 2011-11-01 James Colnett a veteran of James Cook's second voyage to North America was an early participant in the maritime sea otter trade. Between 1786 and 1789 his two vessel expedition traversed the Northwest Coast from Prince William Sound to Vancouver Island and wintered on the Hawaiian Islands. Along the way he and his crew had some remarkable encounters with Native peoples of the Northwest Coast and the Hawaiian Islands; they were the first Europeans to encounter the Tsimshian and the southern Heiltsuk peoples as well as the first to land on the southern Queen Charlotte Islands. Colnett's journal of this expedition is published here for the first time. Editor Robert Galois provides extensive annotations along with an introductory essay addressing the geopolitical context of the voyage and the intellectual background that shaped the writing of the journal. Galois supplements Colnett's writings with extracts from a second journal also previously unpublished by Andrew Bracey Taylor, third mate on one of the ships under Colnett's command. Also included are illustrations from Colnett's journals and a variety of maps both contemporary and historical. This fascinating and informative account offers a new understanding of the early European presence in the Northwest and of Native responses to these developments. It will interest historians, geographers, and ethnographers of the Northwest Coast and beyond.

William Wells and the Struggle for the Old Northwest William Heath, 2015-03-11 Born to Anglo-American parents on the Appalachian frontier, captured by the Miami Indians at the age of thirteen and adopted into the tribe, William Wells 1770-1812 moved between two cultures all his life but was comfortable in neither. Vilified by some historians for his divided loyalties, he remains relatively unknown even though he is worthy of comparison with such famous frontiersmen as Daniel Boone and Davy Crockett. William Heath's thoroughly researched book is the first biography of this man in the middle. A servant of empire with deep sympathies for the people his country sought to dispossess, Wells married Chief Little Turtle's daughter and distinguished himself as a Miami warrior, as an American spy, and as an Indian agent whose multilingual skills made him a valuable interpreter. Heath examines pioneer life in the Ohio Valley from both white and Indian perspectives, yielding rich insights into Wells's career as well as broader events on the post-revolutionary American frontier where Anglo-Americans pushing westward competed with the Indian nations of the Old Northwest for control of territory. Wells's unusual career, Heath emphasizes, earned him a great deal of ill will. Because he warned the U.S. government against Tecumseh's confederacy and the Tenskwatawa's religiously mad followers, he was hated by those who supported the Shawnee leaders. Because he came to question treaties he had helped bring about and cautioned the Indians about their harmful effects, he was distrusted by Americans. Wells is a complicated hero, and his conflicted position reflects the decline of coexistence and cooperation between two cultures.

Assessing Academic Literacy in a Multilingual Society Albert Weideman, John Read, Theo du Plessis, 2020-11-02 South African universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy. The dominant medium of instruction in the universities is English and to a much lesser extent Afrikaans but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages Nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools The focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully The volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by South African educators to a wider international audience

We cannot continue like this Attie S. van Niekerk, Sytse Strijbos, 2022-02-07 The book is based on the view that the present trajectory of modern development cannot continue as it is now because it is ecologically unsustainable it continues to enlarge the gap between rich and poor and the decolonisation movement has drawn our attention again to the specific role of religion culture and value in human affairs and the need for a robust element of indigenisation and contextualisation This book is strongly focused on the context of Africa with two chapters that are written by authors from the Netherlands for the purpose of presenting a North South dialogue The book contains a reflection on approaches followed in building sustainable human communities in general and reflection on specific efforts to solve sustainability issues It seeks to integrate academic reflection and insights gained from practical involvement with sustainability issues in local communities and low income households with contributions from Theology and Natural and Social Sciences
