Economic Management in a Hyperinflationary Environment George Kararach, Raphael O. Otieno, 2016 This volume provides a political economy analysis of leadership and economic management in crises in developing economies based on Zimbabwe's experience

Economics of Agricultural Development George W. Norton, Jeffrey Alwang, William A. Masters, 2021-08-01 Economics of Agricultural Development examines the causes, severity and effects of poverty, population growth and malnutrition in developing countries. It discusses potential solutions to these problems, progress made in many countries in recent years and the implications of globalization for agriculture, poverty and the environment. Topics covered in the book include: Means for utilizing agricultural surpluses to further overall economic development; The sustainability of the natural resource environment; Gender issues in relation to agriculture and resource use; The contribution of improved technologies to agricultural development; The importance of agricultural policies and institutions to development and trade; Actions to encourage more rapid agricultural and economic development. This new edition reflects the following developments: Growth in environmental challenges due to climate change; Continued progress in agricultural and economic development in many low income countries while other countries and regions are being left behind; Continued growth in demand for higher valued farm products. This book is essential reading for undergraduate students seeking to understand the economics of agricultural development and the world food system including environmental and human consequences, international trade and capital flows. It contains a wealth of real world case studies and is accompanied by a website.

Poor Numbers Morten Jerven, 2013-02-01 One of the most urgent challenges in African economic development is to devise a strategy for improving statistical capacity. Reliable statistics including estimates of economic growth rates and per capita income are basic to the operation of governments in developing countries and vital to nongovernmental organizations and other entities that provide financial aid to them. Rich countries and international financial institutions such as the World Bank allocate their development resources on the basis of such data. The paucity of accurate statistics is not merely a technical problem; it has a massive impact on the welfare of citizens in developing countries. Where do these statistics originate? How accurate are they? Poor Numbers is the first analysis of the production and use of African economic development statistics. Morten Jerven's research shows how the statistical capacities of sub-Saharan African economies have fallen into disarray. The numbers substantially misstate the actual state of affairs. As a result, scarce resources are misapplied. Development policy does not deliver the benefits expected. Policymakers' attempts to improve the lot of the citizenry are frustrated. Donors have no accurate sense of the impact of the aid they supply. Jerven's findings from sub-Saharan Africa have far-reaching implications for aid and development policy. As Jerven notes, the current catchphrase in the development community is evidence-based policy, and scholars are applying increasingly sophisticated econometric methods, but no statistical techniques can substitute for partial and unreliable data.

Uncovering African Agency Lucy Corkin, 2016-02-17 China's engagement in Africa is generally portrayed simply as African countries being exploited for their mineral wealth by a wealthy political and economic superpower Is this always the case Certain African countries have been able to use China s involvement in the region to grow their economies and solicit renewed interest from previously disengaged foreign powers by using their relationship with China to bolster their political capital In this thought provoking and original work Lucy Corkin demonstrates how Angola has been amongst the most successful of African nations in this role The concept of African agency covers a wide range of different countries with very different capabilities and experiences of engaging with China In each individual county there are a myriad of actors all with increasingly discernible agencies Uncovering African Agency Angola s Management of China s Credit Lines casts a fascinating new light on China s involvement with her largest African trading partner and through this shows how different African states and the governmental actors within them are able to exploit the relationship to their best advantage Economic Statecraft and Foreign Policy Jean-Marc F. Blanchard, Norrin M.

Ripsman, 2013-07-18 This book develops a unified theory of economic statecraft to clarify when and how sanctions and incentives can be used effectively to secure meaningful policy concessions High profile applications of economic statecraft have yielded varying degrees of success The mixed record of economic incentives and economic sanctions in many cases raises important questions Under what conditions can states modify the behaviour of other states by offering them tangible economic rewards or by threatening to disrupt existing economic relations To what extent does the success of economic statecraft depend on the magnitude of economic penalties and rewards In order to answer these questions this book develops two analytic models one weighs the threats economic statecraft poses to the Target s Strategic Interests TSI while the other stateness assesses the degree to which the target state is insulated from domestic political pressures that senders attempt to generate or exploit Through a series of carefully crafted case studies including African apartheid and Japanese incentives to obtain the return of the Northern Territories the authors demonstrate how their model can yield important policy insights in regards to contemporary economic sanctions and incentives cases such as Iran and North Korea This book will be of much interest to students of statecraft sanctions diplomacy foreign policy and international security in general Climate Change

Education and the Response to the Crisis in Zimbabwe Bekithemba Dube, Gift Masengwe, 2025-10-02 The book offers an incisive examination of the governing philosophy of the Zimbabwe African National Union Patriotic Front ZANU PF referred to as Zanupfism characterizing it as marked by callousness and malevolence towards dissenting voices from civil society and opposition factions This pernicious application of power extends beyond mere verbal aggression to encompass militaristic actions engendering a profound generational crisis within Zimbabwe The contributors explore the compelling juxtaposition between President Emmerson Mnangagwa and the biblical Nebuchadnezzar II a ruler notorious for his autocratic reign and expansive ambitions Further critically scrutinizing the complicity of neo Pentecostal prophets in the book reveals how these religious figures promote an esoteric understanding of the divine diverging from a theology rooted in justice thereby enabling the oppressive regime s practices This critique underscores the imperative for prophets to recalibrate their theological perspectives urging them to move beyond magical interpretations of faith toward an authentic engagement with a personal God who champions justice The book further encompasses the complex interplay of political and religious narratives examining how church leaders either bolster or undermine Mnangagwa s political ideology highlighting the tendency among certain religious factions to deify political authority ultimately exacerbating societal inequities In advocating for a transformative theological discourse in Zimbabwe the book asserts that religious narratives must serve as instruments for fostering democracy social justice and equity rather than sustaining a status quo that entrenches authoritarian governance The necessity for unified principled resistance grounded in the collective agency of the populace emerges as a salient theme in the quest for meaningful political and social reform Biofuels, Land Grabbing and Food Security in Africa Prosper

B. Matondi, Kjell Havnevik, Atakilte Beyene, 2011-06-09 The issue of biofuels has already been much debated but the focus to date has largely been on Latin America and deforestation this highly original work breaks fresh ground in looking at the African perspective Most African governments see biofuels as having the potential to increase agricultural productivity and export incomes and thus strengthen their national economies improving energy balances and rural employment At the same time climate change may be addressed through reduction of green house gas emissions There are however a number of uncertainties mounting that challenge this scenario Using cutting edge empirical case studies this knowledge gap is addressed in a variety of chapters examining the effects of large scale biofuel production on African agriculture In particular land grabbing and food security issues are scrutinised both of which have become vital topics in regard to the environmental and developmental governance of African countries A revealing book for anyone wishing to understand the startling impact of biofuels and land grabbing on Africa Eurozone Dystopia William Mitchell, 2015-05-29 Eurozone Dystopia traces the origin of the Eurozone and shows how the historical Franco German rivalry combined with the growing dominance of neo liberal economic thinking to create a monetary system that was deeply flawed and destined to fail It argu
