Vakalahi,Gaynell M. Simpson,Nancy Giunta,2014-01-28 The collective inclusive and intersectional framework used in this book speaks to the significance of understanding aging across diverse cultures from multiple perspectives but still as a shared human experience The underlying message of the book is that although we are unique and different in our aging processes we are ultimately connected through this physical mental and spiritual experience of aging Thus regardless of whether we are service providers service recipients educators or merely fellow human beings it is important that we approach the aging experience through a collective lens for discovering and sharing resources as we age honoring the past while simultaneously accepting that the future is here A few select examples of key findings from this collaborative work are as follows First despite progress in the field certain issues remain to be addressed including the challenges of racism and sexism mistreatment the digital divide poverty and other social and economic crises in urban and rural communities as they relate to our aging population Second the need for sustaining a sense of independence among the aged and interdependence among supportive systems is warranted Third our elders continue to benefit from culturally competent services community based health interventions and social services that addresses normative and emerging challenges for them Fourth spirituality in both indigenous and contemporary perspectives remains important for our elders development and quality of life

Finding Your Seat at the Table Susan M. Harnett,Laureen P. Cantwell-Jurkovic,2022-02-19 Service on Institutional Review Boards IRB and Institutional Animal Care and Use Committees IACUC is an uncommon activity for librarians Even librarians who participate in institutional research activities in a supportive capacity or conduct their own original research as scholars themselves and are familiar with the IRB IACUC research approval process they may hesitate to participate more fully with these boards There may be a perception that the work of the IRB and IACUC is too scientifically complex for librarians without an appropriate background Library administrators may not advocate for librarian inclusion on the board for fear of additional burdens on the librarian s time and university administrators might need some convincing of the librarian s suitability to perform this work This book provides librarians with foundational knowledge of the IRB and IACUC describes the work of these important committees and expands librarians conceptualization and knowledge of opportunities to create services and partnerships through participation The book provides a progressively more comprehensive understanding of the work of these committees Parts I and II discuss IRB and IACUC respectively their history functions and membership Part III highlights expanding roles for librarians on IRB and IACUC and in institutional research activities A special feature of this section describes the experiences of librarians in their own words who work with IRB or IACUC what they have learned how they have used their experiences to create partnerships and market library services and what role they see for libraries and librarians in institutional research     A Directory of Computerized Data Files & Related Technical Reports ,1986     Computerworld ,1993-07-05 For more than 40 years Computerworld has been the leading source of technology news and information for IT influencers worldwide Computerworld s award winning Web site Computerworld com twice monthly publication focused conference series and custom research form the hub of the world s largest global IT media network     ROS Regulation during Plant Abiotic Stress Responses Zhulong Chan, Chun-Peng Song, Woe Yeon Kim, Ken Yokawa, 2017-02-08 Plants are continuously exposed to a wide range of environmental conditions including cold drought salt heat which have major impact on plant growth and development To survive plants have evolved complex physiological and biochemical adaptations to cope with a variety of adverse environmental stresses Among them reactive oxygen species ROS are key regulators and play pivotal roles during plant stress responses which are thought to function as early signals during plant abiotic stress responses ROS were long regarded as unwanted and toxic by products of physiological metabolism However ROS are now recognized as central players in the complex signaling network of cells Therefore a fine tuning control between ROS production and scavenging pathways is essential to maintain non toxic levels in planta under stressful conditions through enzymatic and non enzymatic antioxidant defense systems We focus on the roles of ROS during plant abiotic stress responses in this Research Topic Plant responses to multiple abiotic stresses and effects of hormones and chemicals on plant stress responses have been carefully studies Although functions of several stress responsive genes have been characterized and possible interactions between hormones and ROS are discussed future researches are needed to functionally characterize ROS regulatory and signaling transduction pathways     Biochar for Environmental Remediation Willis Gwenzi, 2025-01-31 Biochar for Environmental Remediation Principles Applications and Prospects synthesizes state of the art knowledge on biochar based systems for environmental remediation This book examines a wide variety of biochar applications for the remediation of inorganic organic microbial and emerging contaminants in various environmental media including drinking water industrial wastewater urban stormwater industrial and indoor air pollution and contaminated lands and soils An increasing body of evidence shows that biochars have potential applications in environmental remediation of contaminants in soils aqueous systems and air pollution control This book uses a systematic approach covering biochar preparation properties and characteristics removal mechanisms industrial applications regeneration and disposal of spent biochar life cycle analysis and environmental and human health risks Researchers
