Data: Met with MO in 2 hour group session. Used the large conference room in 1A side of building to provide a controlled environment. Reviewed social behavior goals and MO was easily distracted having extreme difficulty completing task of stating current goals and self evaluation on achieving goals.

MO left room and I shadowed her into the hallway. MO engaged in 1:1 conversation with me about an art project. I was able to redirect MO back to room using art as an incentive. Once we returned to the room MO was able to draw on the craft paper and participate in the goal sharing portion of group. Frequent redirection was required using verbal cues to bring about proper participation in Group topic discussion.

Assessment: MO had extreme difficulty initially adjusting and settling into the daily routine. Using the arts focus was brought about to a participation level for a consistent 10 minute time frame. When MO showed signs of another big distraction redirection to writing topics on the white board helped to keep her focused and participating for an additional 15 minutes. This was consistent with the ADHD (moderate) and Bi-polar diagnosis.

Plan: Continue to work on focus and attention. Continue to use art while seated to have an outlet for her energy. Continue to use verbal prompts to redirect as well as use drawing materials while seated as an outlet for her energy. Work to achieve 10 to 15 minute time frames of consistent focus and participation of task at hand 3 times per group session 5 times per week.

A Therapist's Guide to Writing in Psychotherapy Michael D. Reiter, 2023-06-29 This guide practically aids mental health professionals in understanding and improving their therapeutic and academic writing, demonstrating how the written word is an invaluable tool to document, assess, and promote change with those in and outside the therapy room. Exploring the various ways writing occurs in psychotherapy professions, Michael D. Reiter comprehensively covers the range of the written word from progress notes and assessment documentation to journaling and therapeutic letters, as well as contacting larger systems such as report writing and grant applications. Chapters are formatted to include the purpose and function of a particular type of writing before providing multiple examples so therapists can apply this in their own practice. This book aims to help all therapists regardless of academic training or therapeutic modality to incorporate these ideas into their work. This book is designed for mental health professionals in a variety of settings including counselors, therapists, social workers, family therapists, and clinical psychologists. This book is

The Beginning Psychotherapist's Companion 3E Jan Willer, Independent Practitioner Jan Willer, 2024-12-11. The Beginning Psychotherapist's Companion provides guidance regarding topics essential to effective and ethical mental health practice such as readers' emotions, well-being, and relationships. The reader is assisted in managing boundaries with regards to the psychotherapy session, communications between sessions, and the psychotherapist's online presence. Because psychotherapists are often the first to hear about the client's difficulties, the reader is educated about additional treatments that the client may need and is encouraged to assist the client with appropriate referrals. Behavioral health emergencies are also introduced.

Counselling Skills Meena Hariharan, Usha Chivukula, Meera Padhy, 2024-03-13. The book professionalises counselling through the scientific application of appropriate knowledge and skills at various stages of the counselling process. With the aim of equipping readers with fundamental and advanced counselling skills, this book examines a range of key skills from various theories and models of counselling to enable students and professionals to understand the underlying techniques which need to be applied from the time the client approaches the counsellor until the conclusion of the counselling process. Sheds light on the complex psychological state of clients to discuss training for a holistic assessment in terms of emotions, cognition, motivation, and behaviour. Presents extensive materials that train the students in skills to provide emotional relief to the client to help the client change from self-defeating negative thoughts to promising positive thinking, enhancing motivation and self-confidence to initiate action. Integrates discussions on case studies, live as well as hypothetical examples, traditional and contemporary theories on counselling with the art of communication. An invaluable guidebook on developing counselling skills, this volume will be of immense interest to students, researchers, teachers, professionals, and practitioners of psychology, behavioural sciences, mental health, counselling, and education.
