

The image shows the internal components of a Panasonic LED TV. A green LCD TV Controller Driver Board is visible, featuring various electronic components like capacitors, resistors, and integrated circuits. A large black chip with the 'aico' logo is prominent on the right side of the board. Several flat-panel cables are connected to the board, including a red and white one, a white one, and a blue and white one. A silver screwdriver is positioned on the left side of the board. In the bottom right corner, there are several coaxial cables with different colored connectors (gold, red, orange). The background is dark, likely the interior of the TV chassis.
