

Chapter 4 Case Study: Personal Finance, Inc. Data-Pooling Summary

Below is the summary of information that resulted:

Personal Finance, Inc. owns and operates Mutual Finance, a direct life insurance sales. This company has about 200,000 and that company is planning an international expansion by opening a new "subsidiary" in the British area. Personal Finance president, Charles L. Hall, asked an IT consultant, Susan Park, to help develop an information system for that new facility. During the project, Susan will work closely with Greg Lewis, who will manage the new operation.

Background

During requirements modeling for the new system, Susan Park met with financial system manager and an eventual Personal Finance executive. She conducted a series of interviews, reviewed company records, discussed business operations, analyzed the financial data processing workflow, and identified a complex of rules and billing transactions. Susan's objective was to develop a list of system requirements for the proposed system.

The system must be able to maintain, without redundancy, broker bill and record. All members have access to all activities. Limited members are restricted to activities they have sufficient knowledge to participate in. All members pay a regular fee. All members have a change privilege. Changes to membership and services are recorded on exchange slips, which is signed by the member.

At the end of each day, each rule and change are stored on the financial data processing system. The financial data processing system is used to track the system. Daily rule changes are implemented automatically and stored in the system. Personal Finance president, Charles L. Hall, requested that the system be able to handle all of the data processing.

At the end of the month, the financial manager will provide financial data processing summary to the Personal Finance headquarters. All changes, information, and
