Causes of Obesity

Why the shift? Why have we as a nation been getting heavier? The reasons are multi-faceted. Our changing environment and habits are among the chief reasons. Cheap, low-quality food has now been abundantly available over the past 30 years or so. Fast food and industrialized food products have proliferated our society; they have changed not only the foods that we eat, but also the way that we eat them. For many families, gone are the days of home cooked meals. We now rely on quick cook (or no cook) food items with compromised nutritional quality. High fat, high sugar, high sodium foods are now the norm, instead of the occasional "treat". In many urban areas, this is often the only type of food available. With this trend has come an explosion in food portion sizes, and thus people can no longer judge what an appropriate amount of food to eat is. All of the above has triggered in some, an inability to recognize fullness cues.

The number one factor that we as humans use to choose the foods that we eat is taste, not nutritional quality or content. We intuitively do not eat by numbers; we select food via its eye appeal, smell, and taste. We have a large amount of American's that have grown up on fast and industrialized foods that have now become staples in their diets, fresh and whole grain foods hold little appeal, as they have very little experience with these foods. It takes a lot of determination to over-ride this strong drive to eat these readily available tasty foods and to experiment with foods that appear and taste strange and different.

Food manufacturers have become so good at making high fat, high sugar, high salt foods taste so good that some people claim that these foods are physically addictive⁵. Which keeps people trapped in a vicious cycle of eating based on a spike in blood sugar-fulness after a meal/snack, followed by a drop in blood sugar-coupled with a sensation of hunger, which propels further eating, which repeats, and repeats again. These foods are very low in fiber and quality protein, two components of food, which contribute to long-term satiety.

Eating Disorders and Obesity Phillipa Hay, Deborah Mitchison, 2019-05-27 Eating Disorders have traditionally been considered apart from public health concerns about increasing obesity It is evident that these problems are however related in important ways Comorbid obesity and eating disorder is increasing at a faster rate than either obesity or eating disorders alone and one in five people with obesity also presents with an Eating Disorder commonly but not limited to Binge Eating Disorder New disorders have emerged such as normal weight or Atypical Anorexia Nervosa However research and practice too often occurs in parallel with a failure to understand the weight disorder spectrum and consequences of co morbidity that then contributes to poorer outcomes for people living with a larger size and an Eating Disorder Urgently needed are trials that will inform more effective assessment treatment and care where body size and eating disorder symptoms are both key to the research question

Goodbye Obesity Dr Bruce Miller, Obesity is not simply weight gain nor is it a cosmetic or fitness issue Your goal is to reduce the hazardous and ugly fats that surround your abdomen and organs deep within your belly that put you at risk for degenerative diseases such as heart attack stroke high blood pressure diabetes sleep apnea cancer gout osteoarthritis and others There is no quick fix to fat loss only prevention as obesity is a lifestyle disease It took you years of poor eating habits and a sedentary lifestyle to make you fat Fat loss is therefore not an event a program dieting nor merely a number you see on the weighing scale or your BMI A pair of loose pants is a better indicator of fat loss In essence if you lost weight without reducing your waist circumference you haven't done much for yourself To escape from the obesity trap counting calories dieting or cutting fat out of your diet or starvation will not help Instead to lose fat you need to know how the body stores and burns fat You need to incorporate certain lifestyle changes to mobilize your hormones to co operate with the body to burn fat to overcome your body's resistance to permanent fat loss That is what this book is all about The Low-Carb Fraud T. Colin Campbell, Howard Jacobson, 2014-02-25 By now the low carb diet's refrain is a familiar one Bread is bad for you Fat doesn't matter Carbs are the real reason you can't lose weight The low carb universe Dr Atkins brought into being continues to expand Low carb diets from South Beach to the Zone and beyond are still the go to method for weight loss for millions These diets marketing may differ but they all share two crucial components the condemnation of carbs and an emphasis on meat and fat for calories Even the latest diet trend the Paleo diet is despite its increased focus on some whole foods just another variation on the same carbohydrate fears In The Low Carb Fraud longtime leader in the nutritional science field T Colin Campbell author of The China Study and Whole outlines where and how the low carb proponents get it wrong where the belief that carbohydrates are bad came from and why it persists despite all the evidence to the contrary The foods we misleadingly refer to as carbs aren't all created equal and treating them that way has major consequences for our nutritional well being If you're considering a low carb diet read this e book first It will change the way you think about what you eat and how you should be eating to lose weight and optimize your health now and for the long term The Rise of Obesity in Europe Derek J. Oddy, 2016-02-17 Twentieth century Europe went through a dramatic transition from low income populations experiencing hunger and nutritionally inadequate diets to the recent era of over consumption and growing numbers of overweight and obese people By examining the trends in food history from case studies across Europe this book offers a historical context to explain how and why this transition has occurred and what we can learn in order to try and address the vitally important issues arising from obesity in contemporary Europe Science Breakthroughs to Advance Food and Agricultural Research by 2030 National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Environmental Change and Society, Health and Medicine Division, Food and Nutrition Board, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Water Science and Technology Board, Board on Life Sciences, Board on Atmospheric Sciences and Climate, Board on Agriculture and Natural Resources, Committee on Science Breakthroughs 2030: A Strategy for Food and Agricultural Research, 2019-03-21 For nearly a century scientific advances have fueled progress in U S agriculture to enable American producers to deliver safe and abundant food domestically and provide a trade surplus in bulk and high value agricultural commodities and foods Today the U S food and agricultural enterprise faces formidable challenges that will test its long term sustainability competitiveness and resilience On its current path future productivity in the U S agricultural system is likely to come with trade offs The success of agriculture is tied to natural systems and these systems are showing signs of stress even more so with the change in climate More than a third of the food produced is unconsumed an unacceptable loss of food and nutrients at a time of heightened global food demand Increased food animal production to meet greater demand will generate more greenhouse gas emissions and excess animal waste The U S food supply is generally secure but is not immune to the costly and deadly shocks of continuing outbreaks of food borne illness or to the constant threat of pests and pathogens to crops livestock and poultry U S farmers and producers are at the front lines and will need more tools to manage the pressures they face Science Breakthroughs to Advance Food and Agricultural Research by 2030 identifies innovative emerging scientific advances for making the U S food and agricultural system more efficient resilient and sustainable This report explores the availability of relatively new scientific developments across all disciplines that could accelerate progress toward these goals It identifies the most promising scientific breakthroughs that could have the greatest positive impact on food and agriculture and that are possible to achieve in the next decade by 2030 Resources in Education ,1995
