Autonomic Nervous System

The Autonomic Nervous System is part of the nervous system that regulates the body's internal organs and functions. It is divided into two main branches: the Sympathetic Nervous System and the Parasympathetic Nervous System.

1. The Sympathetic Nervous System is responsible for the 'fight or flight' response, which prepares the body for action in stressful situations. It increases heart rate, blood pressure, and releases glucose into the bloodstream.

2. The Parasympathetic Nervous System is responsible for the 'rest and digest' response, which promotes relaxation and recovery. It decreases heart rate, blood pressure, and stimulates digestion.

3. The Autonomic Nervous System is controlled by the brain and spinal cord, specifically the hypothalamus and brainstem.
