

Traditional Teaching Portfolio

Isn't teaching incredible? Education is the only field in which we can make any other career possible. Teachers have the opportunity to change students' lives and futures every day, and have the responsibility to set them up for success and high achievement. And I love it!

I am just always will be continuing to grow as a teacher, but I am confident I make a positive difference for my students through consistent classroom management, engaging lessons and projects, strong relationships, effective communication, and using data to guide differentiation and intervention.

I hope this portfolio can serve as a window into my classroom to share my unique talents and experiences.

Thank you for taking the time to view my portfolio!

Social Studies - Economics

As my lead teaching, I planned and implemented a social studies unit on economics throughout the four week unit, we discussed needs and wants, goods and services, jobs, consumers and service providers, trading, bartering, community helpers and places. For this unit, I used a variety of kinesthetic, hands-on and technology-based activities to keep students engaged, as well as to meet the diverse learning needs of all students. Below is a calendar of lessons and a sample lesson plan from the unit.

Teaching First-Year College Students Bette LaSere Erickson, Calvin B. Peters, Diane Weltner Strommer, 2009-11-24 Teaching First Year College Students is a thoroughly expanded and updated edition of Teaching College Freshmen which has become a classic in the field since it was published in 1991 The book offers concrete suggestions about specific strategies and approaches for faculty who teach first year courses The new edition is based on the most current research on teaching and learning and incorporates information about the demographic changes that have occurred in student populations since the first edition was published The updated strategies are designed to help first year students adjust effectively to both the academic and nonacademic pressures of college The authors also help faculty understand first year students and show how their experiences in high school have prepared them for or not prepared them for the world of higher education

Reaching All Writers Joanne Baird Giordano, Holly Hassel, Jennifer Heinert, Cassandra Phillips, 2024-02-21 Reaching All Writers brings together decades of writing studies experience research and scholarship to help organize first year writing courses around inclusive teaching practices and foundational concepts that support disciplinary learning for all college writers including students who have been excluded from more selective higher education institutions Using threshold concepts and transfer as a foundation the authors provide an invaluable resource for multiple contexts instructors working off the tenure track and or at multiple institutions two year college programs without a writing program administrator and writing program graduate teaching assistant training courses Each chapter includes an overview of a threshold concept disciplinary background readings practical teaching strategies assignment and learning activity ideas assessment principles examples from student and instructor perspectives and questions for reflection and discussion Reaching All Writers describes effective teaching practices to help all college writing instructors regardless of their institutional contexts make changes that support equitable and inclusive learning opportunities with a focus on teaching students whose backgrounds and learning experiences are different from those with more educational or economic privilege Both new and experienced teachers adapting first year college writing courses will find the book's blend of practical strategies and disciplinary knowledge a useful companion for facilitating new classroom and program needs or designing new teaching assistant training courses The Bedford Researcher with 2009 MLA and 2010 APA Updates Mike Palmquist, 2010-03-31 Click here to find out more about the 2009 MLA Updates and the 2010 APA Updates Tech savvy and student friendly The Bedford Researcher addresses the kinds of writing students actually do and the kinds of sources they actually use It follows real student writers from their initial research questions all the way to designing their final essays integrating electronic sources and tools into each stage of the process Clearly organized and readable The Bedford Researcher strips away the complexities of research writing and empowers students to write with confidence WPA, Writing Program Administration, 2002 Geographies of Writing Nedra Reynolds, 2007-09-03 Twenty first century technological innovations have revolutionized the way we experience space causing an increased sense of fragmentation danger and placelessness In Geographies of Writing Inhabiting Places and Encountering Difference Nedra Reynolds addresses these problems in the context of higher education arguing that theories of writing and rhetoric must engage the metaphorical implications of place without ignoring materiality Geographies of Writing makes three closely related contributions one theoretical to reimagine composing as spatial material and visual one political to understand the sociospatial construction of difference and one pedagogical to teach writing as a set of spatial practices Aided by seven maps and illustrations that reinforce the book's visual rhetoric Geographies of Writing shows how composition tasks and electronic space function as conduits for navigating reality Refiguring Prose Style T.R. Johnson, Tom Pace, 2005-10-30 For about two decades say Johnson and Pace the discussion of how to address prose style in teaching college writing has been stuck with style standing in as a proxy for other stakes in the theory wars The traditional argument is evidently still quite persuasive to some that teaching style is mostly a matter of teaching generic conventions through repetition and practice Such a position usually presumes the traditional view of composition as essentially a service course one without content of its own On the other side the shortcomings of this argument have been much discussed that it neglects invention revision context meaning even truth that it is not congruent with research that it ignores 100 years of scholarship establishing composition's intellectual territory beyond service The discussion is stuck there and all sides have been giving it a rest in recent scholarship Yet style remains of vital practical interest to the field because everyone has to teach it one way or another A consequence of the impasse is that a theory of style itself has not been well articulated Johnson and Pace suggest that moving the field toward a better consensus will require establishing style as a clearer subject of inquiry Accordingly this collection takes up a comprehensive study of the subject Part I explores the recent history of composition studies the ways it has figured and all but effaced the whole question of prose style Part II takes to heart Elbow's suggestion that composition and literature particularly as conceptualized in the context of creative writing courses have something to learn from each other Part III sketches practical classroom procedures for heightening students' abilities to engage style and part IV explores new theoretical frameworks for defining this vital and much neglected territory The hope of the essays here focusing as they do on historical aesthetic practical and theoretical issues is to awaken composition studies to the possibilities of style and in turn to rejuvenate a great many classrooms
