focuses closely on nonmonetary forms of exchange and entrustment moving beyond anthropology s traditional understanding of gifts loans and reciprocity He proposes a new view of the social and symbolic dimensions of economy over the full life course including transfers between generations He shows why the enduring cultural values and aspirations of East African people and others around the world complicate issues of credit debt and compensation The book examines how the Luo assess obligations to intimates and strangers including the dead and the not yet born Borrowing lending and serial passing along have ritual religious and emotional dimensions no less than economic ones Shipton shows and insight into these
