resulting in the development of constructed wetlands CWs for treating wastewater This informative new book provides current information and guidance on the construction performance operation and maintenance of subsurface flow constructed wetlands of domestic and municipal wastewater The focus of the volume is to evaluate the performance of horizontal subsurface flow constructed wetlands in treating domestic wastewater to establish the limit that can be safely discharged to agricultural drains Two step procedures were used for the preparation of this book Using modeling and statistical analyses of treated water samples showed a significant difference between different media for the treatment of most pollutants The authors went on to design artificial neural network models ANNs using Matlab software to simulate some of the experimental data and to anticipate the parameters of output concentration The wetland systems have the ability to deal with various pollutants with different concentrations and to decrease the treated water to the standard limits This volume presents the main role of emergent plants for treatment performance in the constructed wetlands and will be a very important resource for engineers in this field as well as for both undergraduate and graduate students Catalog of
