Resilient food systems Zoonoses transmission Food safety in fresh food markets As the COVID 19 pandemic swept across the globe phrases that had most often been found in research papers suddenly emerged on the front pages of newspapers and in trending topics on social media Countries corporations and consumers alike struggled to understand not only how to cope with the threat of the disease itself but also with meeting basic needs such as food security nutrition and health as lockdowns and mobility restrictions reshaped the world in very unequal ways seemingly overnight As a consortium working across five flagship research areas to address some of the world s greatest challenges in nutrition and health the CGIAR Research Program on Agriculture for Nutrition and Health A4NH was uniquely prepared to support policymakers and partners in low and middle income countries in their COVID 19 response and recovery efforts and to contribute research evidence on ways to build back better toward a more equitable food secure and sustainable future

Debt, Crisis and Recovery: The 1930's and the 1990's Albert G. Hart, Perry G. Mehrling, 2016-09-16 This book provides a perspective by a prominent economist on the problems of debt recession and recovery in the 1930s as compared with the 1990s The book begins with several chapters on the explosion of debt in the public and private sectors during the 1970s and 1980s and its implications for economic stagnation and recession that seem to plague the economy Resolution of the debt problem and reform of the banking and financial system are critically important because these problems dampen economic recovery and growth in the future The second part of the book is a reprint of Albert Hart's classic 1938 study Debts and Recovery 1929 to 1937 originally published by the 20th Century Fund The extraordinary parallel between financial problems of the 1930s and the 1990s solutions of the past and proposed reforms for the future may provide a fascinating study for scholars and interested citizens alike

New Constitutionalism and World Order Stephen Gill, A. Claire Cutler, 2014-02-06 This path breaking collection analyses the dialectic between legal and constitutional innovations intended to inscribe corporate power and market disciplines in world order and the potential for challenges and alternative frameworks of governance to emerge It provides a comprehensive approach to neo liberal constitutionalism and regulation and limits to policy autonomy of states and how this disciplines populations according to the intensifying demands of corporations and market forces in global market civilization Contributors examine global and local public policy challenges and consider if the ongoing crises of capitalism and world order offer states and societies opportunities to challenge this loss of policy autonomy and potentially to refashion world order Integrating approaches to governance and world order from both leading and emerging scholars this is an innovative indispensable source for policy makers civil society organizations professionals and students in law politics economics sociology philosophy and international relations
