

Dialogue between a lawyer and a client

Lawyer: Good Afternoon Miss nice to see you, How are you?

Client: I'm good, thank you.

Lawyer: Tell me, what brings you here today and how can I help you?

Client: I believe I have grounds for breach of contract with my tenant for not paying rent for six months and I need your help with the legal proceeds to evict.

Lawyer: Did you do a verbal or a written contract?

Client: We did a written and signed contract.

Lawyer: Did you bring the leasing Contract with you?

Client: Yes, I have it with me.

Lawyer: Great! From what I can see this contract was in fact breached when your tenant missed out on the agreed payments.

This breach of the lease could order your tenant to pay the overdue amount and legal costs plus forfeit your property.

Client: That sounds great but before we proceed I would like you to inform me of your fees.

Lawyer: To start out this process I will charge 250 euros and as we go on I'll inform you before going ahead.

Client: Okay, agreed! What's the next step?

Lawyer: I will take legal action against this breach of contract and request the court to begin the process of eviction also request the overdue amount as soon as possible.

I will call you next week to let you know exactly where we stand.

Thomas,2013-01-05 New data have come to light through the Solution Focused Brief Therapy Association Archive hereafter the Archive This information is drawn from manuscripts and video featuring one of the SF founders Insoo Kim Berg MSW Archive video examples of Ms Berg conducting supervision therapy teams and case consultation as well as unpublished manuscripts written by her provide unique opportunities to illustrate specific assumptions and techniques rarely seen before. The documents outline Ms Berg's philosophy, assumptions, and techniques to conduct supervision, and the videos offer in vivo examples of her supervision and team case consultation style. Together, the Archive materials offer a rich resource for a book that both informs and illustrates SFS.

An Introduction to Counseling George Demos, 2016-11-19

Counseling and group guidance are differentiated, and clear, definitive guides that will help the counselor determine when he/she should use counseling or when he/she should use group guidance are offered. The important distinction between counseling and psychotherapy is made with considerable reference to the judgments of several authorities on this question. Ethics of counseling are discussed. This is a vital area for counseling because unless an occupation determines ethical standards which are honored by its practitioners, it cannot justify the claim that it is a profession. To avoid being unethical, the practitioner must first become aware of what constitutes ethical practices. It is like manners: some people omit saying "Thank you" out of ignorance, not an intent to be discourteous.

The Heart of Pastoral Counseling Richard L. Dayringer, 2013-04-03

The relationship between pastor and parishioner is the essence of pastoral counseling, a simple truth with profound implications. Dr. Richard Dayringer explores these implications in The Heart of Pastoral Counseling: Healing Through Relationship, Revised Edition, to help pastoral counselors understand how to use the relationship to bring about the desired ends in the therapeutic process. Drawing on research from the disciplines of psychiatry, psychology, marriage counseling, family therapy, and pastoral counseling, this book lays the foundation for utilizing the pastoral counseling relationship to bring about positive change, as it explores topics such as observation, listening, communication, handling transference, and termination of therapy. Because the interpersonal relationship is the vehicle of therapy, it is critical that pastoral counselors understand the psychological assumptions that play a large part in the characteristics of relationships, as well as the factors requiring attention in order to establish a secure counseling relationship. The Heart of Pastoral Counseling will help you attain this understanding, as you also improve your knowledge on how pastoral relationships may be applied outside the therapeutic hour in general pastoral work, eclectic methods for clarifying feelings, developing intellectual insight, interpreting, questioning, and assigning certain behavior, employing the problem-oriented record in pastoral counseling, distinguishing relationship from transference and countertransference, the unique problem that counseling acquaintances presents, personality traits that attract people to the minister, pastoral counselor, counselor attitudes that foster relationship, how a client's view of the counselor has an impact on the effectiveness of therapy. The Heart of Pastoral Counseling brings a solid base of research to pastoral counselors, seminary students, graduate students in counseling, professors of counseling, and specialists in pastoral psychotherapy, so that you might better understand the nature of pastoral counseling relationships and how they are helpful and constructive in people's lives. You will be challenged to rethink your role in initiating and carrying out therapeutic change and realize why you should build your ministry on relationships rather than on friendships.
