Contrastive Rhetoric in Shona and English Juliet Thondhlana, 2000 The influence of the learner's mother tongue on the use of a second language has long been of interest within applied linguistics. Whilst most studies have focused on the sentence level, contrastive rhetoric has broadened this area of investigation to the levels of discourse and text. This study explores and applies the approach to written English and Shona of Shona native speakers in Zimbabwe. It is both theoretical and practical, highlighting the importance of multi-dimensional and non-evaluative analytical frameworks and providing information for second language teachers and learners. The Five-Factor Model of Personality Across Cultures Robert R. McCrae, Juri Allik, 2012-12-06

ROBERT R. MCCRAE: it is simply personality research conducted in different countries. The implicit assumption behind this practice is that personality processes are universal and where they are studied is thus of no consequence. An insensitivity to cultural context, once imputed mostly to Americans, now appears to characterize the field worldwide. Fortunately, recent years have also seen a rise of interest in studies of personality and culture. Church, 2001; Church, Lee, McCauley, McCrae, 2000. What do these new studies show? Are personality processes indeed universal, or are there significant variations across cultures that necessitate a more nuanced approach to research? There is as yet no definitive answer to that question. In some respects, human personality does seem to transcend the boundaries of language and culture; in other respects, it is profoundly influenced by social and historical forces. Sorting these issues out must be a priority for our field if we are to understand the current personality literature.

The Legend of Robert Mugabe Amire Nerongo, 2018-02-25 The Legend of Robert Mugabe is a fictional story trying to analyse Robert Mugabe's journey before and after Independence.

The Spirit of Development Erica Bornstein, 2005 This book is an examination of the connections between modern economic practices, globalization, and contemporary Christian religious belief, based on an ethnographic study of NGOs in Zimbabwe. It addresses issues crucial for those interested in the strengths and weaknesses of development theory and practice, as well as in Protestant Christianity as a transnational religion.

Writing Lives: Second Edition Staunton, Irene, 2014-10-07 Writing Lives is the seventh of Weaver's anthologies of short stories following Writing Still, Writing Now, Laughing Now, Women Writing Zimbabwe, Mazambuko, and Writing Free. As with the other anthologies, this vibrant collection reflects the lives and experiences of Zimbabweans as filtered through the lens of each author's perceptions. Writing Lives gives us stories that will make us laugh and bring tears to our eyes as it provides a focus on the past, the present, and even the future.
