American Political Humor Jody C. Baumgartner, 2019-10-07 This two volume set surveys the profound impact of political humor and satire on American culture and politics over the years paying special attention to the explosion of political humor in today s wide ranging and turbulent media environment Historically there has been a tendency to regard political satire and humor as a sideshow to the wider world of American politics entertaining and sometimes insightful but ultimately only of modest interest to students and others surveying the trajectory of American politics and culture This set documents just how mistaken that assumption is By examining political humor and satire throughout US history these volumes not only illustrate how expressions of political satire and humor reflect changes in American attitudes about presidents parties and issues but also how satirists comedians cartoonists and filmmakers have helped to shape popular attitudes about landmark historical events major American institutions and movements and the nation's political leaders and cultural giants Finally this work examines how today's brand of political humor may be more influential than ever before in shaping American attitudes about the nation in which we live The Cinema in Flux Lenny Lipton, 2021-04-07 The first of its kind this book traces the evolution of motion picture technology in its entirety Beginning with Huygens magic lantern and ending in the current electronic era it explains cinema's scientific foundations and the development of parallel enabling technologies alongside the lives of the innovators Product development issues business and marketplace factors the interaction of aesthetic and technological demands and the patent system all play key roles in the tale The topics are covered sequentially with detailed discussion of the transition from the magic lantern to Edison's invention of the 35mm camera the development of the celluloid cinema and the transition from celluloid to digital Unique and essential reading from a lifetime innovator in the field of cinema technology this engaging and well illustrated book will appeal to anyone interested in the history and science of cinema from movie buffs to academics and members of the motion picture industry Contemporary European Cinema Betty Kaklamanidou, Ana Corbalán, 2018-12-07 This book offers a range of accounts of the state of European Cinema in a specific sociopolitical era that of the global economic crisis that began in 2008 and the more recent refugee and humanitarian crisis With the recession having become a popular theme of economic demographic and sociological research in recent years this volume examines representations of the crisis and its attendant market instability and mistrust of neoliberal political systems in film It thus sheds light on the mediation reimagination and reformulation of recent history in the depiction of personal cultural and political memories and raises new questions about crisis narratives in European film asking whether the theoretical notion of national cinema is less or more powerful during moments of sociopolitical turbulence and investigating the kinds of cultural representations and themes that characterize the narratives of European documentary and fictional films from both small and large national markets After "Happily Ever After" Maria San Filippo, 2021-05-18 This volume is intended for all readers with an interest in film media and gender studies Imagining "We" in the Age of "I" Mary Harrod, Suzanne Leonard, Diane Negra, 2021-07-29 Winner MeCCSA Edited Collection of the Year MeCCSA Outstanding Achievement Awards 2022 In the early twenty first century shifts in gender and sexuality work and mobility patterns and especially technology have provoked interest in perceived threats to social bonding on a global scale This edited collection explores the fracturing of couple culture but also its persistence Looking at a variety of media sites including film television popular print fiction new media and new technologies this volume's diverse range of contributors examine how mediated scenes of intimacy proliferate while real life experiences are cast in a newly uncertain light The collection thus challenges a latent but growing tendency towards perceptions of romantic decline in a variety of cultural contexts and with attention to the impact of COVID 19 This is an accessible and timely collection suitable for scholars in gender studies media cultural studies and communication studies American Cinema of the 1960s Barry Keith Grant, 2008 This book examines a range of films that characterized the decade including Hollywood movies documentaries and the independent and experimental films Curating Africa in the Age of Film Festivals L. Dovey, 2015-03-11 Tracing the history of Africa's relationship to film festivals and exploring the festivals impact on the various types of people who attend festivals the festival experts the ordinary festival audiences and the filmmakers Dovey reveals what turns something called a festival into a festival experience for these groups The Oxford Handbook of Children's Film Noel Brown, 2022 Offers a comprehensive and wide ranging study of children's film Takes an interdisciplinary approach that encompasses contributions from scholars in the fields of film studies children's education children's media studies children's literature studies animation studies and fandom studies Features an international scope covering iconic films from Hollywood including Disney as well as from Britain France Germany Sweden Norway Hungary Australia China Japan South Korea India Iran and Kenya Includes chapters written from a range of critical approaches to children's film including genre ideology narrative stardom music industry studies and primary research on audiences and reception Book jacket A Hero for the Atomic Age Axel Andersson, 2010 Nomination for Best Foreign Film at the 2013 Academy Awards In English and many other languages the name Kon Tiki has become a byword for adventure and the exotic The journey of the Kon Tiki from Peru to Polynesia in 1947 became one of the founding myths of the postwar world In the voyage of six Scandinavians and a parrot on a balsa raft across the Pacific Ocean the classic journey of discovery was re-invented for generations to come Kon Tiki spoke of heroism masculinity free spirited rebellion against scientific dogmatism and the promise of an attainable exotic world while it updated these mythological staples to fit the times After years of relentless media exploitation of the 101 day raft journey Heyerdahl emerged as the protagonist in a legend that helped to create a new postwar West A Hero for the Atomic Age tells the story of how Heyerdahl organized an expedition to sail a balsa raft from Callao in Peru to the Tuamotu Islands in French Polynesia and explains how he turned this physical crossing into an epic narrative that became imbued with a universal appeal The book also addresses for the first time the problematic nature of Heyerdahl's theory that a white culture bearing race had initiated all the world's great civilizations The Living Age, 1926

Youth and Suicide in American Cinema Alessandra Seggi, 2022-10-27 This book explores the depiction of suicide in American youth films from 1900 to 2019 Anchored in Sociology this multidisciplinary study investigates the causes and consequences of suicide and uncovers the socio-cultural context for the development of youth film and suicide While such cinematic portrayals seem to privilege external explanations of suicide versus internal or psychological ones overall they are neither rich nor sensitive Most are simplistic limited or at the very least unbalanced At times they are flatly controversial In light of this overall problematic depiction of suicide this book offers a proactive approach to empower young audiences a media literacy strategy to embrace while watching these films Black Manhood on the Silent Screen Gerald R.

Butters,2002 In early twentieth century motion picture houses offensive stereotypes of African Americans were as predictable as they were prevalent Watermelon eating chicken thievery savages with uncontrollable appetites Sambo and Zip Coon were all representations associated with African American people Most of these caricatures were rendered by whites in blackface Few people realize that from 1915 through 1929 a number of African American film directors worked diligently to counter such racist definitions of black manhood found in films like D W Griffith s The Birth of a Nation the 1915 epic that glorified the Ku Klux Klan In the wake of the film s phenomenal success African American filmmakers sought to defend and redefine black manhood through motion pictures Gerald Butters s comprehensive study of the African American cinematic vision in silent film concentrates on works largely ignored by most contemporary film scholars African American produced and directed films and white independent productions of all black features Using these race movies to explore the construction of masculine identity and the use of race in popular culture he separates cinematic myth from historical reality the myth of the Euro American controlled cinematic portrayal of black men versus the actual black male experience Through intense archival research Butters reconstructs many lost films expanding the discussion of race and representation beyond the debate about good and bad imagery to explore the construction of masculine identity and the use of race as device in the context of Western popular culture He particularly examines the filmmaking of Oscar Micheaux the most prolific and controversial of all African American silent film directors and creator of the recently rediscovered Within Our Gates the legendary film that exposed a virtual litany of white abuses toward blacks Black Manhood on the Silent Screen is unique in that it takes contemporary and original film theory applies it to the distinctive body of African American independent films in the silent era and relates the meaning of these films to larger political social and intellectual events in American society By showing how both white and black men have defined their own sense of manhood through cinema it examines the intersection of race and gender in the movies and offers a deft interweaving of film theory American history and film history

The Gallup Poll Alec Gallup,Alec M. Gallup, Frank Newport,2007 Pyramid Lake is one of the largest lakes in the Great Basin the terminus of the Truckee River flowing from Lake Tahoe into northern Nevada This desert oasis with a surface area of nearly two hundred square miles is a unique geological feature and was home to the Paiute for thousands of years before the arrival of explorer John C Fremont in 1844 For the Paiute it was a spiritual center that provided life sustaining resources such as the cui ui a fish unique to the lake and now endangered For the ranchers and farmers who settled on tribal lands the waters that flowed into it were necessary to raise cattle and crops Mergen tells how these competing interests have interacted with the lake and with each other from the Paiute War of 1860 to the present The lake s very existence was threatened by dams and water diversion it was saved by tribal claims favorable court decisions improved water laws and the rise of environmentalism At Pyramid Lake is about more than Indians and water wars however It is the story of railroads on the reservation and the role of federal state and private groups interested in sportfishing It is about scientists artists and tourists who were captivated by the lake's beauty. Finally, it is also a story of the lake as a place of spiritual renewal and celebration. Mergen grew up near its shores in the 1940s and returned frequently through the years. In this cultural history, he combines his personal remembrances with other source material including novels, poetry, newspaper and magazine journalism, unpublished manuscripts, and private conversations to paint a fascinating portrait of one of Nevada's natural wonders.

Music in Films on the Middle Ages John Haines, 2013-10-30 This book explores the role of music in the some five hundred feature length films on the Middle Ages produced between the late 1890s and the present day. Haines focuses on the tension in these films between the surviving evidence for medieval music and the idiomatic tradition of cinematic music. The latter is taken broadly as any musical sound occurring in a film from the clang of a bell off screen to a minstrel singing his song. Medieval film music must be considered in the broader historical context of pre-cinematic medievalisms and of medievalist cinema's main development in the course of the twentieth century as an American appropriation of European culture. The book treats six pervasive moments that define the genre of medieval film: the church tower bell, the trumpet fanfare or horn call, the music of banquets and courts, the singing minstrel performances of Gregorian chant, and the music that accompanies horse-riding knights. With each chapter visiting representative films as case studies, these six signal musical moments that create a fundamental visual-aural core central to making a film feel medieval to modern audiences originate in medievalist works predating cinema by some three centuries.

Film Music in the Sound Era Jonathan Rhodes Lee, 2020-03-10 Film Music in the Sound Era: A Research and Information Guide offers a comprehensive bibliography of scholarship on music in sound film, 1927-2017. Thematically organized sections cover historical studies, studies of musicians and filmmakers, genre studies, theory and aesthetics, and other key aspects of film music studies. Broad coverage of works from around the globe, paired with robust indexes and thorough cross-referencing, make this research guide an invaluable tool for all scholars and students investigating the intersection of music and film. This guide is published in two volumes. Volume 1: Histories, Theories, and Genres covers overviews, historical surveys, theory, and criticism; studies of film genres and case studies of individual films. Volume 2: People, Cultures, and Contexts covers individual people, social and cultural studies, studies of musical genre, pedagogy, and the industry. A complete index is included in each volume.

African Media in an Age of Extraction Noah Tsika, 2025-10-01 African Media in an Age of Extraction takes a fresh, site-specific look at the relationship between moving images and the mining of natural resources, arguing that where we place Nollywood and other industries has important practical and conceptual consequences. Such locations are not just spatial metaphors but also tangible geographies with material connections to extractive economies. Sites of film production are often spaces of oil prospecting, timber harvesting, and mineral extraction, natural environments continuously transformed by capital. African Media in an Age of Extraction links such absolute spaces: reclaimed lands, razed forests, petroleum zones, abandoned coal mines, collecting moss, vast tin fields, inspiring illegal dredging by populations locked out of the licit economy, to the abstract and lived dimensions of film villages shooting locations and exhibition centers The geographies of African media industries are not fixed locations cleanly separated from surrounding areas or from the wider world including Hollywood nor are they fully detachable from the mineral and hydrocarbon resources that also define them Considering multiple scales the local the national the regional the continental the planetary this book takes stock of the physical terrain and extractive objects that Nollywood shares with other industries and that structure screen media more broadly Topographies political economies national identities and natural resources are entwined in ways that cinema makes intelligible and that carry the potential to transform the way we see the medium itself
