Planning and Design for Sustainable Urban Mobility Un-Habitat,2013-10-30 Urban transport systems worldwide are faced by a multitude of challenges Among the most visible of these are the traffic gridlocks experienced on city roads and highways all over the world The prescribed solution to transport problems in most cities has thus been to build more infrastructures for cars with a limited number of cities improving public transport systems in a sustainable manner However a number of challenges faced by urban transport systems such as greenhouse gas emissions noise and air pollution and road traffic accidents do not necessarily get solved by the construction of new infrastructure Planning and Design for Sustainable Urban Mobility argues that the development of sustainable urban transport systems requires a conceptual leap The purpose of transportation and mobility is to gain access to destinations activities services and goods Thus access is the ultimate objective of transportation As a result urban planning and design should focus on how to bring people and places together by creating cities that focus on accessibility rather than simply increasing the length of urban transport infrastructure or increasing the movement of people or goods Urban form and the functionality of the city are therefore a major focus of this report which highlights the importance of integrated land use and transport planning This new report of the United Nations Human Settlements Programme UN Habitat the world s leading authority on urban issues provides some thought provoking insights and policy recommendations on how to plan and design sustainable urban mobility systems The Global Report on Human Settlements is the most authoritative and up to date global assessment of human settlements conditions and trends Preceding issues of the report have addressed such topics as Cities in a Globalizing World The Challenge of Slums Financing

Urban Shelter Enhancing Urban Safety and Security Planning Sustainable Cities and Cities and Climate Change Dear Comrade President André Odendaal,2022-08-01 In his annual presidential address on 8 January 1986 ANC president Oliver Tambo called on South Africans to make apartheid ungovernable through armed action and militant struggle But unknown to the world on that very day the quiet spoken mathematics teacher and aspirant priest turned reluctant revolutionary had also set up a secret think tank in Lusaka which he named the Constitution Committee giving it an ad hoc unique exercise that had no precedent in the history of the movement Knowing that all wars end at a negotiating table and judging the balance of forces to be moving in favour of the liberation movement Tambo wanted the ANC to hold the initiative after the fall of apartheid Assisted by Pallo Jordan he instructed his new think tank to formulate the principles and draft the outlines of a constitution that could unite South Africa when the time came to talk in the fledgling days of freedom and democracy The seven member team including Albie Sachs Kader Asmal and Zola Skweyiya started deliberating and reporting to Tambo In correspondence they typically addressed him as Dear Comrade President Drawing on the personal archives of participants Dear Comrade President explains how the purposeful first steps were taken in the making of South Africa s Constitution Why and how did this process happen What were the first written words When and where were they put on paper By whom What values did they espouse And how did the committee s work fit into the broader struggle This book answers these questions in new paradigm shifting ways 21st-Century Statecraft Nayef Al-Rodhan,2022-07-28 From civilisational frontier risks associated with new challenges like disruptive technologies to the shifting nature of great power conflicts and subversion the 21st century requires a new approach to statecraft In 21st Century Statecraft Professor Nayef Al Rodhan proposes five innovative statecraft concepts He makes the case for a new method of geopolitical analysis called meta geopolitics and for dignity based governance He shows how in an interdependent and interconnected world traditional thinking must move beyond zero sum games and focus on multi sum and symbiotic realist interstate relations This requires a new paradigm of global security premised on five dimensions of security and a new concept of power just power which highlights the centrality of justice to state interests These concepts enable states to balance competing interests and work towards what the author calls reconciliation statecraft Throughout Professor Al Rodhan brings his philosophical and neuroscientific expertise to bear providing a practical model for conducting statecraft in a sustainable way The Politics of Potential Michelle Pentecost,2024-01-12 The first one thousand days of human life or the period between conception and age two is one of the most pivotal periods of human development Optimizing nutrition during this time not only prevents childhood malnutrition but also determines future health and potential The Politics of Potential examines early life interventions in the first one thousand days of life in South Africa drawing on fieldwork from international conferences government offices health care facilities and the everyday lives of fifteen women and their families in Cape Town Michelle Pentecost explores various aspects of a politics of potential a term that underlines the first one thousand days concept and its effects on clinical care and the lives of childbearing women in South Africa Why was the First One Thousand Days project so readily adopted by South Africa and many other countries Pentecost not only explores this question but also discusses the science of intergenerational transmissions of health disease and human capital and how this constitutes new forms of intergenerational responsibility The women who are the target of first one thousand days interventions are cast as both vulnerable and responsible for the health of future generations such that despite its history intergenerational responsibility in South Africa remains entrenched in powerfully gendered and racialized ways Yearbook of International Organizations 2014-2015, Volumes 1a & 1b (Set) Union of International Associations, 2014-06-16 Volume 1 A and B covers international organizations throughout the world comprising their aims activities and events Knowledge, Power and Young Sexualities Tamara Shefer, Jeff Hearn, 2022-07-27 This book troubles the ways young people have been constructed as trouble through critical readings of the effects and impacts politically and ideologically globally and locally of scholarship and practice directed at South African young people s sexualities over the last three decades of addressing HIV GBV and other sexual and gender justice challenges Located primarily in South Africa the book speaks to global concerns about the politics of knowledge and transnational flows of information and practice with respect to gender and sexuality and is framed by global imperatives and analyses located in transnational postcolonial and intersectional feminist frameworks The key argument developed here and explored in relation to several different forms of research and practice is that efforts to challenge HIV GBV and unequal sexual and gender practices among young people particularly as evident in heterosexual relationships have tended to reflect and reproduce renewed orthodoxies about sexuality gender family and young people while bolstering global and local racist classist othering of certain communities and nation states and reiterating the innocence and authority of those already privileged and centred The book contributes to critical reflexive work on global practices of knowledge and its complex enmeshment with power in the terrain of sexual and gender justice work aimed at young people Self-Directed Learning for the 21st Century: Implications for Higher Education Elsa Mentz, Josef de Beer, Roxanne Bailey, Per B. Johnson, Corné Kruger, Dorothy Laubscher, Anita Lubbe, Jako Olivier, Christo van der Westhuizen, Sukie van Zyl, 2019-12-12 This book is devoted to scholarship in the field of self directed learning in the 21st century with specific reference to higher education The target audience of the book includes scholars in the field of self directed learning and higher education The book contributes to the discourse on the quality of education in the 21st century and adds to the body of scholarship in terms of self directed learning and specifically its role in higher education Although all the chapters in the book directly address self directed learning the different foci and viewpoints raised make the book a rich knowledge bank of work on self directed learning Engendering Democracy in Africa Niamh Gaynor, 2022-06-01 This book investigates women s political participation in Africa Going beyond the formal institutions of electoral politics it explores a range of spaces where everyday politics take place at national and at local levels In recent years there have been significant improvements in the number of women elected to parliament in Africa. However, there is little indication that this is translating into better developmental outcomes, and indeed there is mounting evidence that it could in fact help to bolster some authoritarian regimes. Starting from the premise that politics is a far broader project than securing a seat in national or local legislatures alone, this book explores the opportunities for women's political participation across a number of informal spaces where women and men gather, organise and interact in a more regular and systematic manner. Combining insights from political science, sociology and feminist theory, and drawing on detailed cases from the Congo, Kenya, Malawi, Nigeria and Rwanda, it examines how power in its multiple dimensions circulates across a range of everyday political spaces while drawing attention to the links between domestic gender inequalities and the global political economy. Inviting scholars, practitioners and activists to broaden their focus beyond formal electoral institutions, if they want to support women to become more politically active, this book provides fresh insights into major issues at the heart of African studies, development studies, gender and development, democratisation and international relations.

Chinese Organizations in Sub-Saharan Africa Terence Jackson, Lynette Louw, Dev K. Boojihawon, 2020-11-09 Trade between China and Africa is increasing year on year while the West increasingly debates the nature and implications of China's presence. Yet little research exists at the organizational and community levels. While western press reporting is overwhelmingly negative, African governments mostly welcome the Chinese presence. But what happens at the management level? How are Chinese organizations run? What are they bringing to communities? What is their impact on the local job market? How do they manage staff? How are they working with local firms? This book seeks to provide a theoretical framework for understanding Chinese organizations and management in Africa and to explore how their interventions are playing out at the organizational and community levels in sub-Saharan Africa. Based on rigorous empirical research exploring emerging themes in specific African countries, this book develops implications for management knowledge, education and training provision and policy formulation. Importantly, it seeks to inform future scholarship on China's management impact in the world generally, on Africa's future development and on international and cross-cultural management scholarship. Primarily aimed at scholars of international management with an interest in China and/or in China in Africa, this important book will also be of great interest to those working in the area of development studies, international politics and international relations.

Resilience and Contagion Kristi Heather Kenyon, 2017-10-26 HIV represents not only an unprecedented pandemic but also a site of civil society innovation. In the midst of devastation, activists in sub-Saharan Africa are progressing from traditional forms of health advocacy to strategies that engage human rights principles, techniques and language. Employing a comparative case study approach, Resilience and Contagion considers the efforts of nine local civil society organizations in Ghana, Uganda, South Africa and Botswana. Kristi Heather Kenyon examines who adopts rights-based discourse and why, arguing that leadership, individual beliefs and structure all play a critical role in framing advocacy. Beyond changing laws or policies, the most important impact of promoting the rights of people living with HIV she attests is that it enables individuals to interact with health services from a position of resilience strength and empowerment This book delves into discourse at the juncture of human rights social theory and global health prompting significant and relevant discussion on advocacy s evolution in the region of the world hit hardest by the HIV pandemic Drawing on 145 interviews extensive participant observation and fascinating document analysis Resilience and Contagion foregrounds the voices of civil society actors who have conducted the most vocal widespread and innovative health advocacy to date

BRICS and the New American Imperialism Vishwas Satgar, Ferriat Adam, Samir Amin, Patrick Bond, William K Carroll, Christopher Chase-Dunn, Alexander Gallas, Ana Garcia, Karina Kato, Nivedita Majumdar, Keamogetswe Seipato, 2020-03-01 Challenges the mainstream understanding of BRICS and US dominance to situate the new global rivalries engulfing capitalism BRICS is a grouping of the five major emerging economies of Brazil Russia India China and South Africa Volume five in the Democratic Marxism series BRICS and the New American Imperialism challenges the mainstream understanding of BRICS and US dominance to situate the new global rivalries engulfing capitalism It offers novel analyses of BRICS in the context of increasing US induced imperial chaos deepening environmental crisis tendencies such as climate change and water scarcity contradictory dynamics inside BRICS countries and growing subaltern resistance The authors revisit contemporary thinking on imperialism and anti imperialism drawing on the work of Rosa Luxemburg one of the leading theorists after Marx who attempted to understand the expansionary nature of capitalism from the heartlands to the peripheries The richness of Luxemburg s pioneering work

inspires most of the volume's contributors in their analyses of the dangerous contradictions of the contemporary world as well as forms of democratic agency advancing resistance. While various forms of resistance are highlighted among them—water protests, mass worker strikes, anti-corporate campaigning and forms of cultural critique—this volume grapples with the challenge of renewing anti-imperialism beyond the NGO-driven World Social Forum and considers the prospects of a new horizontal political vessel to build global convergence. It also explores the prospects of a Fifth International of Peoples and Workers.

Migrant Emotions explores the interrelationships and tensions between mobility and immobility, emotions, affects and experiences, inclusion and exclusion as well as narratives and representations in both local and global discourses. The overall objective of the volume is to underscore the significance of emotions in the analysis of mobile lives in the past and the current socio-political climate. The book provides a new framework that brings together the study of emotions and migration by focusing on the feelings or emotions of exclusion and inclusion through a range of theoretical lenses. Specifically, it offers a series of complex interconnected studies on diverse experiences, responses and voices of migrants, including refugees, asylum seekers, undocumented and others on the move, both in the twentieth and the twenty-first centuries and across the continents, including Europe, Molesini, Daniel Stock, Castillo, Goncalves, Cancian, Leese, Africa, Cancian, Kilpel, Inen and Zechner, Asia, Mutiara, Paul, Ridgway and Oceania, Heckenberg. Integral to the volume's original objective is an emphasis on the global diversity of contributors and studies and the global reach of readership for purposes of comparison.
