Plant Life Cycles

FROM SEED TO TREE

Every plant begins its life as a tiny seed. The seed contains all the information it needs to grow into a mature plant. When the seed is planted in the soil, it begins to grow. The first stage is germination, where the seed absorbs water and nutrients from the soil. The seed then grows into a seedling, which has two small leaves. The seedling grows larger and larger, and eventually becomes a tree. The tree has many leaves and branches, and it can live for many years.

LIFE OF A PLANT

Plants have a life cycle that starts with a seed. The seed grows into a seedling, which then grows into a mature plant. The mature plant produces more seeds, which can grow into new plants. This cycle repeats over and over again. Plants need sunlight, water, and nutrients to grow. They also need to be protected from pests and diseases. The life of a plant is a continuous cycle of growth and reproduction.

BLOOM AND GROW

Plants grow through a cycle of blooming and growing. The seedling grows into a mature plant, which then produces more seeds. The seeds grow into new seedlings, which then grow into mature plants. PLANTS THROUGH SEASONS

Plants change throughout the year as the seasons change. In the spring, plants begin to grow and bloom. In the summer, plants are in full bloom and are producing seeds. In the fall, plants begin to die back and shed their leaves. In the winter, plants are dormant and do not grow. The cycle repeats over and over again. Plants need sunlight, water, and nutrients to grow. They also need to be protected from pests and diseases. The life of a plant is a continuous cycle of growth and reproduction.
