

PARENTS

I dreamed I stood in a studio,
And watched two sculptors there.
The clay they used was a child's mind,
And they fashioned it with care.

One was a teacher, the tools used,
Were books and music and art.
One, a parent with guiding hands,
A gentle and loving heart.

Day after day the teacher toiled,
With a touch both deft and skilled.
The parent labored side by side,
And all the values filled.

And when at last their task was done,
They looked at what they'd wrought.
The beautiful shape of the precious child,
Could neither be sold nor bought.

And each agreed it would have failed,
If one had worked alone.
For behind the parent stood the school,
And behind the teacher, the home.

Poem For Parents From Teacher:

Teacher, I Honor You Helene McGlaulin, 2016-03-07

Parents and Teachers Lawrence Green, 2025-08-05

Originally published in 1968 this book was for every parent who had ever wondered What goes on in my child's school whom do I ask what do I ask and dare I ask and for every teacher who had ever thought How can I get closer to parents and enlist their aid in what I am trying to teach At the time Lawrence Green was a junior school head teacher with long experience in the deprived areas of a large city and had two children at school His articles on parent teacher cooperation in the magazine Where aroused very wide interest and led to reviews in the national press and appearances on the BBC and ITV Requests for details of his two way reports in which parents were invited to give the school a picture of the child at home were received from all over the world This is a practical and deeply felt book a living illustration of the kind of cooperation which could make the Plowden Report a reality It deals frankly with the difficulties of starting and maintaining links between home and school but describes the kind of success which could be achieved The intention was that it should be read by all who cared about education and wanted to cross the line which too often separated parent and teacher at the time Today it can be read in its historical context

Teachers and Parents Together Maureen Botrie, Pat Wenger, 1992 Practical ways to involve parents in school programs from ideas for bulletin boards through suggested letters and procedures for parent interviews open houses newsletters and surveys Reproducible information sheets clarify key questions about everything from spelling to skills to report cards

Promising Practices for Elementary Teachers Susan Benner, 2010-01-11 This book offers educators tools to break the cycle of failure for students who are unsuccessful in school including alternative instructional strategies practices for vulnerable children and more

Teaching Poetry, Embracing Perspectives Sharon Discorfan, 2017-09-01 This book serves as a practical guide for teachers of middle school students as well as higher grade levels that provides clear and fully developed lesson plans and activities that use the teaching of poetry reading and writing as a vehicle for developing students own creativity and appreciation for diversity The combination of theory and practice sets this book apart from other books in addition to an original four step method of making sense of poems The book is divided into two parts the first focuses on the critical reading of poems the second focuses on the writing of poems using different forms Both work towards the bigger picture of developing students ability to engage in respectful discourse and to view multiple perspectives as enriching rather than competing

Partnership with Parents in Early Childhood Settings Liz Hryniewicz, Paulette

Luff, 2020-10-29 Partnership with Parents in Early Childhood Settings examines how practitioners can work effectively with parents and families acknowledging the complex nature of these relationships Drawing on policy research and practice from kindergartens and early years settings in five European countries it provides insight into how political social and cultural contexts affect the relationships between educators and families and the impact this has on children s early experiences The book is based upon learning from an Erasmus mobility project between educators from five countries in OMEP the World Organisation for Early Childhood Education It presents examples from practice and research from the different countries and highlights some positive and practical ways in which professionals can work with parents as well as potential barriers to parental partnership and how these might be overcome Each section focuses on a different country and allows for a detailed exploration into how relationships are developed and sustained for the benefit of young children and their families in different places Throughout the reader is encouraged to reflect on their current understanding of parental partnership and how they can plan for positive parental partnership working in the future This thought provoking text will be an indispensable resource for students of early childhood and teachers and practitioners as well as academics and those with an interest in early years social and educational policy National Parent-teacher ,1956
