The Oxford Guide to the Bantu Languages Lutz Marten, Ellen Hurst-Harosh, Nancy C. Kula, Jochen Zeller, 2025-08-19 This volume brings together leading scholars from Africa Europe the Americas and beyond to provide a detailed account of the languages of the Bantu family which cover an area from Cameroon and Kenya in the north to South Africa in the south The Bantu family is part of the Niger Congo phylum and one of the world's biggest language groups comprising around 500 languages The family includes major languages with large numbers of speakers such as Zulu Kinyarwanda and Swahili the most widely spoken and taught African language as well as many community languages and several endangered languages Bantu languages feature prominently in the complex and multilingual language ecologies that are characteristic of the linguistic situation in much of Africa and they provide rich evidence for the study of theoretical and comparative linguistics language contact and language change They play an important role in education commerce culture and artistic expression in the media and public discourse in governance and social justice and are central to the future of the continent and the well being of its communities The first part of The Oxford Guide to the Bantu Languages provides background and context with chapters exploring the history of research in the field language and prehistory in Bantu speaking Africa and typology and variation Chapters in the second part offer broad comparative overviews of Bantu phonology morphology syntax semantics and pragmatics socio and applied linguistics before Parts III VII cover more specific topics in Bantu linguistics across a variety of subfields ranging from structural issues such as the augment and melodic tone to historical and sociolinguistic topics such as Bantu languages in the diaspora and language policy and standardization The chapters in the final part offer individual structural overviews of a range of languages from across the Bantu speaking area The book will be an essential resource for students and researchers specializing in the Bantu languages and for typologists and comparative linguists more broadly

Ubuntu Marietjie Oelofsen, Upenyu Majee, Bongani Mgijima, Jamie Monson, 2024-08-20 Ubuntu Interdisciplinary Conversations Across Continents is a collection of work by 17 scholars emerging from the Ubuntu Dialogues Seminar Exchange Fellowship hosted by Stellenbosch University in South Africa and Michigan State University in the US between 2019 and 2022 This collaborative work brings new voices and new ways of interrogating a concept that holds possibilities for living together differently The contributions problematise the concept in provocative and surprising ways and disrupt narrow and superficial interpretations of Ubuntu The contributors to this book foreground critical issues which are fundamental towards a deeper understanding of the notion of ubuntu Dr Sithembele Marawu University of Fort Hare This book features next generation rising stars from places such as South Africa Zimbabwe Malawi Burundi and the US writing about ubuntu the indigenous southern African term often used to capture African philosophy especially its moral dimensions A fresh kaleidoscopic engagement with ubuntu Professor Thaddeus Metz University of Pretoria

Applicative Morphology Sara Pacchiarotti, Fernando Zuniga, 2022-10-03 This book is about recurrent functions of applicative morphology not included in typologically oriented definitions Based on substantial cross linguistic evidence it challenges received wisdom on applicatives in several ways First in many of the surveyed languages applicatives are the sole means to introduce a non Actor semantic role into a clause When there is an alternative way of expression the applicative counterpart often has no valence increasing effect on the targeted root Second applicative morphology can introduce constituents which are not syntactic objects and or co occur with obliques Third functions such as conveying aspectual nuances to the predicate intensity repetition habituality or its arguments partitive P highly individuated P narrow focusing constituents and functioning as category changing devices are attested in geographically distant and genetically unrelated languages Further this volume reveals that spatial related morphology is prone to developing applicative functions in disparate languages and phyla Finally several contributions discuss the diachrony of applicative constructions and their non syntactic attested functions including a case of applicatives in the making

Working with indigenous knowledge Fhumulani M. Mulaudzi, Rachel T. Lebesse, 2022 The aim of the book is to assist both local and international scholars in articulating the scholarly discourse on indigenous health attitudes practices and experiences The indigenous lens that was used to generate and disseminate indigenous knowledge in this book will strengthen indigenous scholarship thus making it accessible to a wider audience In addition the information shared in this book will add value for scholars and assist them with the indigenous knowledge needed to address sustainable development goals This book is timeous and topical as the discourse on the decolonisation of the curriculum is widely debated in the higher education space

The discourse on the scholarship of indigenous knowledge as the tacit local knowledge that stems from cultural practices within communities has not been well articulated in the current health science education milieu. Indigenous knowledge has remained overlooked and undermined for a very long time and the information remains untapped in local communities. The scholars who conducted the research on which this book is based unearthed a wealth of knowledge which was tacit in nature and translated it into implicit knowledge that can be documented and shared with other scholars globally. This knowledge will assist health care scholars in benefiting from knowledge practices and cultural beliefs that will assist them in health care planning, teaching, evidence-based practice and further research.

Towards Human Rights in Residential Care for Older Persons Helen Meenan, Nicola Rees, Israel Doron, 2015-07-30 People are leading significantly longer lives than previous generations did and the proportion of older people in the population is growing. Residential care for older people will become increasingly necessary as our society ages and we will require more of it. At this moment in time the rights of older people receive attention at international and regional levels with the United Nations, the Organization of American States and the African Union exploring the possibility of establishing new conventions for the rights of older persons. This book explores the rights of older people and their quality of care once they are living in a care home and considers how we can commence the journey towards a human rights framework to ensure decent and dignified care for older people. The book takes a comparative approach to present and future challenges facing the care home sector for older people in Africa, Kenya, the Arab world, Egypt, Australia, China, England, Israel, Japan and the USA. An international panel of experts have contributed chapters identifying how their particular society cares for its older and oldest people, the extent to which demographic and economic change has placed their system under pressure and the role that residential elder care homes play in their culture. The book also explores the extent to which constitutional or other rights form a foundation to the regulatory and legislative structures to residential elder care and it examines the important concept of dignity. As a multi-regional study of the care of older persons from a human rights perspective, this book will be of excellent use and interest in particular to students and researchers of family and welfare law, long term care, social policy, social work, human rights and elder law.

Knowledge Beyond Colour Lines Monwabisi K. Ralarala, Salochana Lorraine Hassan, Rajani Naidoo, 2021-05-25 Knowledge remains timely in education. The need for academics to contemplate its relevance, worth, use and everything in between deems a continuous intellectual project rather than a conundrum to be solved. This book takes the South African context by the horns as it challenges the often dormant and traditionalist ways in which higher education spaces see knowledge. Through original research and the voices of academics and students, this book argues for repurposing knowledge generation, knowledge sharing and critical pedagogy so that more inclusive teaching and learning environments can be both imagined and sustained. The contentious tensions that this creates for LoLT and SoTL in particular are unlocked so as to trouble the South African higher education landscape with the intent to proffer alternative pathways for a knowledge beyond colour lines. Heritage, and the Built Environment Jessica L. Nitschke,Marta Lorenzon,2021-01-11 This book proposes new ways of looking at the built environment in archaeology specifically through postcolonial perspectives It brings together scholars and professionals from the fields of archaeology urban studies architectural history and heritage in order to offer fresh perspectives on extracting and interpreting social and cultural information from architecture and monuments The goal is to show how on going critical engagement with the postcolonial critique can help archaeologists pursue more inclusive sensitive and nuanced interpretations of the built environment of the past and contribute to heritage discussions in the present The chapters present case studies from Africa Greece Belgium Australia Syria Kuala Lumpur South Africa and Chile covering a wide range of chronological periods and settings Through these diverse case studies this volume encourages the reader to rethink the analytical frameworks and methods traditionally employed in the investigation of built spaces of the past To the extent that these built spaces continue to shape identities and social relationships today the book also encourages the reader to reflect critically on archaeologists ability to impact stakeholder communities and shape public perceptions of the past

Developing Africa? Lehasa Moloi,2024-03-12 Developing Africa New Horizons with Afrocentricity aims to contest the Eurocentric narrative of an African development discourse This book deploys the theory of Afrocentricity as an intellectual standpoint from which African thinkers should interrogate and reconceptualize the discourse of development in Africa Particularly the book argues in favour of the Afrocentric re interpretation of African history African culture and assertion of

African agency as the core building wedge in the reconceptualization of the ideal African development trajectory A Theory of Applied Linguistics Albert Weideman, 2024-08-21 This book adopts as conceptual focus the technical mode of experience exploring this characteristic mode of design as the angle from which the discipline of applied linguistics takes its cue What makes applied linguistic concept formation possible A number of elementary concepts and ideas are so basic to the discipline that they can neither be ignored nor avoided These primitives are identified by examining the connections among the technical and other modalities such as the spatial the physical the social economic aesthetic juridical and the ethical A theory of applied linguistics must be robust enough to do justice to different modernist and postmodernist paradigms operating in the discipline systematically identifying and assessing their strengths and blind spots The book offers a response to the question of the usefulness of theory The principles of design revealed in the theoretical analysis are given shape in developing imaginative language interventions to solve vexing language problems not for the sake of theory but for the benefit of those affected The book is intended for use both as a reference and as a comprehensive unifying perspective of what the field is by scholars in applied linguistics and related fields TESOL ESL ESP EAP SLA studies language assessment and testing language policy development by postgraduate students or those who teach or study applied linguistics
