Playing The Corporate Game English Edition:

Playing the corporate language game Catherine Nickerson, 2021-11-01 An increasing number of business people are regularly required to communicate effectively and efficiently in a language that is not their own. The tasks that international business writers carry out have therefore become a recent focus of attention for communication researchers and language practitioners particularly within multinational corporations where the majority of the workforce needs to communicate both in English and the local language. Playing the Corporate Language Game explores the relationship between context and text and presents a comprehensive framework for the investigation of the communication practices that are currently in use in international business. It includes an extensive survey of multinational corporations in the Netherlands and it goes on to present a detailed analysis of the genres and discourse strategies that could be identified in a large corpus of authentic documents written by Dutch and British writers consisting of letters, reports and e-mail messages. There is detailed discussion throughout of those aspects of national and corporate culture that impact the evolution and linguistic realisation of business genres in multinational multilingual settings. This volume will be of interest to students and researchers of applied linguistics and business communication and all those concerned with Language for Specific Purposes and the interface between local languages and International Business English.

Phil Knight, New York Times bestselling author of Shoe Dog. It's How We Play the Game shows how a trailblazing business was created by giving back to the community and by taking principled and sometimes controversial stands including against the type of weapons that are too often used in mass shootings and other tragedies. Ed Stack's memoir tells the story of a complicated founder and an ambitious son, one who transformed a business by making it about more than business, conceiving it as a force for good in the communities it serves. In 1948, Ed Stack's father started Dick's Bait and Tackle in Binghamton, New York.
