

Task 1: Linear Regression

10/10/2024

Introduction

Linear regression is a statistical method used to model the relationship between a dependent variable and one or more independent variables. It assumes a linear relationship between the variables and aims to find the best-fitting line that minimizes the sum of the squared residuals. The equation of a linear regression line is typically written as $y = \beta_0 + \beta_1 x$, where y is the dependent variable, x is the independent variable, β_0 is the y-intercept, and β_1 is the slope of the line.

Mathematical Formulation

$$y = \beta_0 + \beta_1 x + \epsilon$$

Where y is the dependent variable, x is the independent variable, β_0 is the y-intercept, and β_1 is the slope.

Assumptions

- Linearity: The relationship between the independent and dependent variables is linear.
- Independence: The observations are independent of each other.
- Homoscedasticity: The variance of the residuals is constant across all values of the independent variable.
- Normality: The residuals are normally distributed.
- No multicollinearity: The independent variables are not highly correlated.
