Reaching One Thousand:

One Thousand Wells Jena Lee Nardella, 2015-08-25 Jena Nardella cofounder of Blood Water and one of Christianity Today's 33 Under 33 shares a captivatingly honest Publishers Weekly account of how her passion for saving the world grew into a humbler long term calling of loving the world in all its brokenness in this beautifully written memoir Ten years ago Jena Lee Nardella was a fresh out of college twenty something with the lofty goal of truly changing the world Armed with a diploma a thousand dollars and a dream to build one thousand wells in Africa she joined forces with Grammy Award winning band Jars of Clay to found Blood Water and begin her mission Jena's dream for her nonprofit turned that initial 1 into 20 and then 100 and today into more than 25 million Working throughout eleven countries in Africa Blood Water has provided healthcare for over 62 000 people in HIV affected areas and has partnered with communities to provide clean water for more than one million people in Africa But along the way she faced many harsh realities that have tested her faith encountered corruption and brokenness that nearly destroyed everything she'd fought for and learned that wishful thinking will not get you very far Jena discovered true change comes only when you stop trying to save the world and allow yourself to love it even when it breaks your heart With a fresh intelligent and winsome voice Jena Lee Nardella weaves an evocative personal narrative filled with honest and hard won lessons that demonstrate the amazing things that can happen when you fight for your dreams FAA-AM, 1971

Reaching One Thousand Rachel Robertson, 2012 Deeply touching but never sentimental this remarkable book is more than a story of one boy and his mother It's a thoughtful meditation on the intricate workings of the human mind and heart TONI JORDAN He'll grow out of it my friends told me He's so intelligent my family said Your parents are mathematicians people reminded me What did you expect What did I expect We expect many things of our children Most of the time we are only aware of these expectations when something happens to make it impossible for them to be fulfilled When Ben is a baby Rachel puts his quirks down to eccentricity He likes to count letterboxes he hates to get his hands dirty loud noises make him anxious But as Ben grows and his behaviour becomes more pronounced it becomes clear there is something else going on When he is diagnosed with autism Rachel must reconsider everything she thought she knew about parenting about Ben and about how best to mother him Reaching One Thousand charts her quest to understand autism and to build a new kind of relationship with her son Along the way she explores her own childhood discovering unexpected links between Ben's experiences and her own Before she can presume to tell Ben's story she realises she must face difficult questions questions about intimacy trust and what it means for a mother to write about her child Exquisitely written this is a thought provoking reflection on family and understanding and a tender love letter from a mother to her son

Extraordinary John Bevere, 2010-09-21 Satisfy your intrinsic desire to rise above the norm Isn't it true that we long to see the extraordinary experience the extraordinary do the extraordinary Yet so often we settle for mediocrity when greatness is within our grasp Why are we drawn to stories of heroic triumph over seemingly impossible circumstances In our fascination with adventure movies superheroes and tales of incredible human feats do we reveal an inherent desire for something larger and greater in life Maybe what we think is a need to escape or be entertained is actually a God inspired longing for the extraordinary Best selling author John Bevere reveals how all of us were meant for more extraordinarily created and intended for a life that is anything but ordinary Here is the roadmap for your journey of transformation You are marked for a life that far surpasses the usual definitions of success or fulfillment Isn't it time to pursue your extraordinary life

All the News That's Fit to Sell James T. Hamilton, 2011-10-23 That market forces drive the news is not news Whether a story appears in print on television or on the Internet depends on who is interested its value to advertisers the costs of assembling the details and competitors products

But in All the News That's Fit to Sell economist James Hamilton shows just how this happens Furthermore many complaints about journalism media bias soft news and pundits as celebrities arise from the impact of this economic logic on news judgments This is the first book to develop an economic theory of news analyze evidence across a wide range of media markets on how incentives affect news content and offer policy conclusions Media bias for instance was long a staple of the news Hamilton's analysis of newspapers from 1870 to 1900 reveals how nonpartisan reporting became the norm A hundred years later some partisan elements reemerged as for example evening news broadcasts tried to retain young female viewers with stories aimed at their Democratic political interests Examination of story selection on the network evening news programs from 1969 to 1998 shows how cable competition deregulation and ownership changes encouraged a shift from hard news about politics toward more soft news about entertainers Hamilton concludes by calling for lower costs of access to government information a greater role for nonprofits in funding journalism the development of norms that stress hard news reporting and the defining of digital and Internet property rights to encourage the flow of news Ultimately this book shows that by more fully understanding the economics behind the news we will be better positioned to ensure that the news serves the public good
