sociological and historical perspectives Chasing the American Dream Mark Robert Rank PhD, Thomas A. Hirschl PhD, Kirk A. Foster PhD, 2014-03-01 The United States has been epitomized as a land of opportunity where hard work and skill can bring personal success and economic well being The American Dream has captured the imagination of people from all walks of life and to many it represents the heart and soul of the country But there is another darker side to the bargain that America strikes with its people it is the price we pay for our individual pursuit of the American Dream That price can be found in the economic hardship present in the lives of millions of Americans In Chasing the American Dream leading social scientists Mark Robert Rank Thomas A Hirschl and Kirk A Foster provide a new and innovative look into a curious dynamic the tension between the promise of economic opportunities and rewards and the amount of turmoil that Americans encounter in their quest for those rewards The authors explore questions such as What percentage of Americans achieve affluence and how much income mobility do we actually have Are most Americans able to own a home and at what age How is it that nearly 80 percent of us will experience significant economic insecurity at some point between ages 25 and 60 How can access to the American Dream be increased Combining personal interviews with dozens of Americans and a longitudinal study covering 40 years of income data the authors tell the story of the American Dream and reveal a number of surprises The risk of economic vulnerability has increased substantially over the past four decades and the American Dream is becoming harder to reach and harder to keep Yet for most Americans the Dream lies not in wealth but in economic security pursuing one's passions and looking toward the future Chasing the American Dream provides us with a new understanding into the dynamics that shape our fortunes and a deeper insight into the importance of the American Dream for the future of the country Teaching the Canon in 21st Century Classrooms Michael Macaluso, Kati Macaluso, 2018-11-01 The canon as much an ideology as it is a body of texts perceived to be intrinsic to the high school English classroom has come under scrutiny for maintaining status quo narratives about whiteness masculinity heterosexuality ability and even those associated with American ideals of self reliance the good life and the self made man Teaching practices around these texts may also reinforce harmful practices and ways of thinking including those connected to notions of culture literary merit and methods of reading teaching and learning Teaching the Canon in 21st Century Classrooms offers innovative critical ways of reading thinking about and teaching canonical texts in 21st century classrooms Responding to the increasingly pluralized digitized global 21st century English classroom chapter authors make explicit the ideologies of a canonical text of focus while also elaborating a pedagogical approach that de-centers the canon bridges past and present applies critical theory and celebrates the rich identities of 21st century readers In using this book teachers will be especially poised to take on the canon in their classroom and thus to open up their curricula to ideas values concerns and narratives beyond those embedded in the canonical texts Criminological Theories James F. Anderson, 2014-06-24 Designed for undergraduate criminology and criminological theory courses Criminological Theories Understanding Crime in America Second Edition explores crime crime theory and various forms of criminal behavior within the United States It focuses exclusively on theory avoiding superfluous discussion of the criminal justice system Students will come away from the text with plausible explanations of crime causation a greater appreciation of criminological theory and the ability to think critically about the social reality of crime Current and highly relevant the text includes coverage of new developments in the field of criminology including cultural integrative life course and green criminological theories
