Daily Graphic Ransford Tetteh, 2014-09-19 ICTES 2018 Robbi Rahim, Kadek Suranata, Ifdil Ifdil, Itsar Bolo Rangka, 2019-03-13

The technical program of The First ICTES 2018 consisted of 114 full papers. Aside from the high quality technical paper presentations, we also held a workshop and a clinic manuscript that was carried out before the main track. Aims to strengthen the ability to write scientific publications. Coordination with the steering chairs Dr Kadek Suranata S Pd M Pd Kons and the members of the organizing committee is essential for the success of the conference. We sincerely appreciate all the Advisory Boards for the constant support and guidance. It was also a great pleasure to work with such an excellent organizing committee team for their hard work in organizing and supporting the conference. In particular, the Scientific Committee led by Cand Dr Robbi Rahim M Kom have completed the peer review process of technical papers and made a high quality technical program. We are also grateful to Students Conference chairs were leading by Ida Ayu Made Diah Paramiswari for their support and all the authors who submitted their papers to the First ICTES 2018. We strongly believe that ICTES conference provides a good forum for all academicians, researchers and practitioners to discuss all Educational science and technology aspects that are relevant to issues and challenge for sustainability in the 4th industrial revolution. We also expect that the future ICTES conference will be as successful and stimulating as indicated by the contributions presented in this volume.

The State of the Art in Student Engagement Carl Senior, 2015-07-10

There is an extensive literature conducted from a range of theoretical perspectives and methodologies on the role of groups and student learning in higher education. However, here the concept of the group is heavily contested at a theoretical level but within higher education practice characterizing the group has tended to be clear cut. Groups of students are often formed within the parameters of specific educational programs to address explicitly defined learning objectives. These groups are often small scale and achieve tasks through cooperative or collaborative learning. Cooperative learning involves students dividing roles and responsibilities between group members so learning becomes an independent process and outcome. On the other hand, collaborative learning involves students working together by developing shared meanings and knowledge to solve a task or problem. From this perspective, learning is conceptualized as both a social process and individual outcome. That is, collaborative learning may facilitate individual student conceptual understanding and hence lead to higher academic achievement. The empirical evidence is encouraging as has been shown that students working collaboratively tend to achieve higher grades than students working independently. However, the above perspectives on student engagement assume that groups are formed within the confines of formal learning environments. e.g. lecture theaters. Involvement in the same degree program have the explicit function of achieving a learning task and disband once this has been achieved. However, students may also use existing social networks such as friendship groups as a mechanism for learning which may occur outside of formal learning environments. There is an extensive literature on the role and benefits of friendship groups on student learning within primary and secondary education but there is a distinct lack of research within higher education This ebook is innovative and ambitious and will highlight and consolidate the current understanding of the role that student based engagement behaviors may serve in effective pedagogy A unique aspect of this research topic will be the fact that scholars will also be welcome to submit articles that describe the efficacy of the full range of approaches that have been employed to facilitate student engagement across the sector

Schools David W. Hursh, 2015-10-16 The End of Public Schools analyzes the effect of foundations corporations and non governmental organizations on the rise of neoliberal principles in public education By first contextualizing the privatization of education within the context of a larger educational crisis and with particular emphasis on the Gates Foundation and influential state and national politicians it describes how specific policies that limit public control are advanced across all levels Informed by a thorough understanding of issues such as standardized testing teacher tenure and charter schools David Hursh provides a political and pedagogical critique of the current school reform movement as well details about the increasing resistance efforts on the part of parents teachers and the general public Australian Education Index, 1980

The English Professor Margaret R. O'Leary/Dennis S. O'Leary, 2016-02-04 Across the span of more than forty years Raphael Dorman O'Leary a professor of English rhetoric and English literature taught his students at the University of Kansas to think straight to put sinew into their sentences and to embrace the magnificent literary treasures of their mother tongue The English Professor by authors Margaret R O'Leary and Dennis S O'Leary offers a narrative of the life work and times of a revered Midwestern university English teacher This memoir narrates how the professor born in 1866 was raised on a Kansas farm in the post bellum era Like his father before him he was committed to a life of learning and teaching His colleagues knew him for his unpretentious exterior honesty and integrity and his flashing anger at cheapness vulgarity pretense and above all charlatanism When Professor O'Leary died after a short illness in 1936 his personal effects passed through two generations to his grandson Dennis S O Leary who with his wife Margaret discovered his papers while restoring a family house The trove of material served as the core resource for the compilation of The English Professor It provides insights into the histories of Kansas and the University of Kansas and of Harvard University as well as perspectives on higher education including the teaching of English rhetoric language literature journalism and oratory in the United States
