Subcommittee on the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies, 2015 Reskilling America Katherine S. Newman, Hella Winston, 2016-04-19 From Katherine Newman award winning author of No Shame in My Game and sociologist Hella Winston a sharp and irrefutable call to reenergize this nation s long neglected system of vocational training After decades of off shoring and downsizing that have left blue collar workers obsolete and stranded the United States is now on the verge of an industrial renaissance Companies like Apple BMW Bosch and Volkswagen are all opening plants and committing millions of dollars to build products right here on American soil The only problem we don't have a skilled enough labor pool to fill these positions which are in many cases technically demanding and require specialized skills A decades long series of idealistic educational policies with the expressed goal of getting every student to go to college has left a generation of potential workers out of the system Touted as a progressive egalitarian institution providing opportunity even to those with the greatest need the American secondary school system has in fact deepened existing inequalities leaving behind millions of youth especially those who live in the de industrialized Northeast and Midwest without much of a future at all We can do better argue acclaimed sociologists Katherine Newman and Hella Winston Taking a page from the successful experience of countries like Germany and Austria where youth unemployment is a mere 7% they call for a radical reevaluation of the idea of vocational training long discredited as an instrument of tracking The United States can prepare a new high performance labor force if we revamp our school system to value industry apprenticeship and rigorous technical education By doing so we will not only be able to meet the growing demand for skilled employees in dozens of sectors where employers decry the absence of well trained workers we will make the American Dream accessible to all Building America's Skilled Technical Workforce National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, National Academy of Engineering, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Policy and Global Affairs, Board on Science Education, Board on Higher Education and Workforce, Board on Science, Technology, and Economic Policy, Committee on the Supply Chain for Middle-Skill Jobs: Education, Training, and Certification Pathways, 2017-05-04 Skilled technical occupations defined as occupations that require a high level of knowledge in a technical domain but do not require a bachelor s degree for entry are a key component of the U S economy In response to globalization and advances in science and technology American firms are demanding workers with greater proficiency in literacy and numeracy as well as strong interpersonal technical and problem solving skills However employer surveys and industry and government reports have raised concerns that the nation may not have an adequate supply of skilled technical workers to achieve its competitiveness and economic growth objectives In response to the broader need for policy information and advice Building America's Skilled Technical Workforce examines the coverage effectiveness flexibility and coordination of the policies and various programs that prepare Americans for skilled technical jobs This report provides
