Rhetorical Strategies and Genre Conventions in Literary Studies Laura Wilder, 2012-05-31 Laura Wilder fills a gap in the scholarship on writing in the disciplines and writing across the curriculum with this thorough study of the intersections between scholarly literary criticism and undergraduate writing in introductory literature courses Rhetorical Strategies and Genre Conventions in Literary Studies is the first examination of rhetorical practice in the research and teaching of literary study and a detailed assessment of the ethics and efficacy of explicit instruction in the rhetorical strategies and genre conventions of the discipline Using rhetorical analysis ethnographic observation and individual interviews Wilder demonstrates how rhetorical conventions play a central although largely tacit role in the teaching of literature and the evaluation of student writing Wilder follows a group of literature majors and details their experiences Some students received experimental explicit instruction in the special topoi while others received more traditional implicit instruction Arguing explicit instruction in disciplinary conventions has the potential to help underprepared students Wilder explores how this kind of instruction may be incorporated into literature courses without being overly reductive Taking into consideration student perspectives Wilder makes a bold case for expanding the focus of research in writing in the disciplines and writing across the curriculum in order to grasp the full complexity of disciplinary discourse

Teaching Arguments Jennifer Fletcher, 2023-10-10 No matter where students live after graduation one of the most essential tools we can teach them is how to comprehend analyze and respond to arguments Students need to know how writers and speakers choices are shaped by elements of the rhetorical situation including audience occasion and purpose In Teaching Arguments: Rhetorical Comprehension Critique and Response Jennifer Fletcher provides teachers with engaging classroom activities writing prompts graphic organizers and student samples to help students at all levels read write listen speak and think rhetorically Fletcher believes that with appropriate scaffolding and encouragement all students can learn a rhetorical approach to argument and gain access to rigorous academic content Teaching Arguments opens the door and helps them pay closer attention to the acts of meaning around them to notice persuasive strategies that might not be apparent at first glance When we analyze and develop arguments we have to consider more than just the printed words on the page We have to evaluate multiple perspectives the tension between belief and doubt the interplay of reason character and emotion the dynamics of occasion audience and purpose and how our own identities shape what we read and write Rhetoric teaches us how to do these things Teaching Arguments will help students learn to move beyond a superficial response to texts so they can analyze and craft sophisticated persuasive arguments a major cornerstone for being not just college and career ready but ready for the challenges of the world
