1. Describe one good method for precisely specifying what a function must do, without indicating how the function accomplishes its work. Provide an example, using a small function.
2. What is a precondition? What is a postcondition?
3. It's recommended that the precondition be checked at the start of a function. What's a good approach if a function discovers that its precondition is not true?
4. Is it always possible for a function to check that its precondition is true?
5. Suppose that you accidentally call a correctly implemented function, but the precondition is false. Is the function guaranteed to halt with a nice message? Is the function allowed to erase everything on your hard drive?

void exam(int i)
// Precondition: i is not equal to 42.
...

7. Give a concise formula that gives the approximate number of digits in a positive integer. The integer is written in base 10.
