Quaternary Environmental Change in Southern Africa Jasper Knight, Stefan W. Grab, 2016-06-23 This book provides a benchmark study of southern African landscape evolution during the Quaternary for researchers professionals and policymakers

Towards applying a green infrastructure approach in the Gauteng City-Region Christina Culwick, Samkelisiwe Khanyile, Kerry Bobbins, Stuart Dunsmore, Anne Fitchett, Lerato Monama, Raishan Naidu, Gillian Sykes, Jennifer van den Bussche, Marco Vieira, 2019-12-11 In the context of heightened climate variability thinking about ways to redesign our urban areas with more sustainable infrastructure solutions is becoming more and more important Green infrastructure GI is emerging as an alternative approach to traditional grey infrastructure in urban planning and development Its emergence can be understood in terms of the growing demand for infrastructure and services increased concerns over natural resource constraints and climate change and the negative impacts associated with traditional approaches to designing and building cities It has been proposed that GI can provide the same services as traditional infrastructure at a similar capital cost while also providing a range of additional benefits However despite the increasing examples of successful urban GI applications traditional infrastructure continues to dominate due to the lack of systematic evidence to support GI implementation As a result there has been an increase in calls from policy and decision makers for a greater evidence base on the benefits of GI as well as for practical guidelines on its implementation Towards applying a green infrastructure approach in the Gauteng City Region is the GCRO s third report in its ongoing research into Green assets and infrastructure The first two reports in this project series were more theoretically grounded and policy oriented whereas this third report is more practical in nature The first report explored the basic principles around GI assessed the extent of ecological features in Gauteng and the way governments in the province think about planning and maintenance of green assets The second report responded to some of the challenges identified in the first report and in particular the importance of government officials and practitioners in exploring how international green infrastructure plans could be applied in the Gauteng context This third report builds on the findings of the aforementioned reports and the project s CityLab series which highlighted the need to build an evidence base as critical for garnering support for and as well as enhancing investment in the GI approach Unlike the more theoretically grounded earlier reports this report comprises four technical sections and practical reflections on how a GI approach could be incorporated into urban planning in the GCR and in other similar urban contexts

Fault Lines Jonathan Jansen, Cyrill Walters, 2020-03-31 What is the link if any between race and disease How did the term baster as mixed race come to be mistranslated from incest in the Hebrew Bible What are the roots of racial thinking in South African universities How does music fall on the ear of black and white listeners Are new developments in genetics simply a backdoor for the return of eugenics For the first time leading scholars in South Africa from different disciplines take on some of these difficult questions about race science and society in the aftermath of Richmond, Carol V. Ward, 2020-05-07 The 1924 African discovery of an early hominin child's skull referred to as Australopithecus africanus by Raymond Dart was a major event in the history of paleoanthropology This provided the first evidence of early hominins in Africa and overturned conventional ideas about human evolution Subsequent discoveries of A. africanus fossils notably from cave deposits at Sterkfontein yielded the first evidence that early hominins were habitual bipeds Fifty years after this the discovered wealth of fossil evidence in eastern Africa of the slightly older and craniodentally more primitive taxon A. afarensis catalyzed debates about the origin and evolution of human gait and the phylogenetic relationships among early hominins This formed the main basis of our understanding of early hominin bipedality and paleobiology Little attention has been paid to the variation among species in postcranial anatomy and locomotion although intriguing hints are beginning to appear in the literature Did multiple varieties of bipedality evolve Did australopith species differ in positional or manipulative abilities body proportions or patterns of sexual dimorphism These are critical questions for understanding the evolution of australopiths and hominin locomotion In this book Bernhard Zipfel Brian Richmond Carol Ward and the most knowledgeable scholars in their respective fields provide groundbreaking accounts for each postcranial fossil and expert examinations into the background of each fossil The chapters include standardized high quality photographs and anatomical descriptions to allow readers to read the book entirely or learn by comparing features across chapters Hominin Postcranial Remains from Sterkfontein South Africa 1936 1995 is an evolutionary history of South African hominins and it offers readers an orientation and introduction to the field This is an important reference book for professional paleontologists paleobiologists anthropologists geologists students and historians interested in human evolution African Paleoecology and Human Evolution Sally C.
